GOVERNOR RITCHIE CALLS ON ANDREW JACKSON

MIRAGE MAKES VISIBILITY MUCH HIGHER IN CITY

A mirage caused by distorted light waves was the explanation given by Prof. Henry J. Cox of the weather bureau to reports of unusually clear visibility in the atmosphere yesterday. The optical illusion, making distant objects seem closer, especially across a body of water, is not an infrequent phenomenon in the lake regions, he said. It is brought about by a sharp difference in the temperature over the land and that over the water—a difference yesterday of nearly 10 degrees. Several persons were convinced that they were able to see the opposite shore life across Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon. Visitors to the Tribune Tower said the visibility was remarkably good from that point in every direction. The clock in the Wrigley tower could be distinguished plainly from the steps of the Field museum. Temperatures in Chicago, according to the official report, ranged from 21 at 8 a. m. to 23 at 1 p. m., while over the lake they hovered about the 32 mark. Some snow is forecast for today, but it will be warmer.

Decision Due on M'Clintock Estate Today

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
By noon today the now famous million dollars which young William Neilson M'Clintock willed to William Darling Shepherd, may be legally charted in the direction in which they are to move. Toward Shepherd, the chief beneficiary in the will which Judge Henry Horner refused to probate on the grounds that the presumption of undue influence suggested by the name of Shepherd, as an attorney, on the back of the will, had not been entirely overcome. Or toward Miss Isabelle Pope, M'Clintock's fiancée, who, by this same will, receives an $8,000 annuity, and toward eight of his cousins and half-cousins, not mentioned in the present document? For, after a brief closing argument this morning by former State's Attorney John J. Healy, co-counsel with Attorney John H. S. Lee for Miss Pope, the case will go to Circuit Judge Kirkham Scanlan for decision. The judge may give it immediately, and orally. He possibly may fix a later date, when he will give a written decision. This is an important day. At any rate, this morning is to be an important one in the several important moments Billy's million has experienced. This will case yesterday rose or fell, according to the point of view of the spectators who jammed into the courtroom, from the impassioned drama of personalities that everybody thought it would be, to an analytical, almost mathematical, weighing of facts. That is, Attorney Orville Taylor, representing the heirs, and Attorneys Healy and Lee for Miss Pope, outlined these three points as showing why M'Clintock's will should not be admitted to probate. 1. There is evidence of the fiduciary relationship between the young man, M'Clintock, just coming into his majority, and Shepherd, the lawyer whom he called "father." 2. Shepherd, christened by those attorneys "the dominant factor" in the entire will making process, was the chief beneficiary in that will. 3. This same "dominant factor" drew or procured the drawing of the will. Going into this last point, Mr. Lee picked out a few phrases from the document, with its scarlet cover, which lies up there on the judge's desk so innocently, and read them to show that no layman could have said such legal sounding things.

Combats Under Influence

Charles Rathbun came back with his two points: 1. That the slight presumption of undue influence raised, legally, by Shepherd's signature on the back of a will in which he is chief beneficiary, had been entirely overcome, and that by the opposing attorneys in their cross examination of Rathbun's own witnesses (the two servants). 2. That under section 2 of the wills act of the state of Illinois, "the place to thrust out the question of undue influence is in a chancery court."

"So," Rathbun fairly shouted, summing it all up, "if William Nelson M'Clintock hadn't left his money to William Darling Shepherd, the man he loved, the man he called 'father,' rather than to Bert Eaton, an imbecile half cousin he'd never seen, it would have been mighty funny."

On the second point Rathbun said, Miss Marie Gaertner and Miss Eva Nelson, already have sworn they signed the will, knowingly and voluntarily. Beyond that Rathbun contends, Judge Scanlan's court cannot go.

Swift & Co. Philadelphia Plant Destroyed by Fire

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The meat packing plant of Swift & Co. was destroyed tonight by fire. The amount of the damage was not estimated. The intense cold and burning water hose greatly handicapped the firemen in combating the flames.

RAILS AND BIG 4 AGREE ON WAY TO LABOR PEACE

Mediation Board to Outlaw Strike.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(Special).—Abolition of the railroad labor board and amicable adjustment of railroad labor disputes in the future without any interruption of transportation and consequent discomfort to the public was forecast tonight. Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, and Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the organized railway employees, issued a joint statement outlining proposed rail labor legislation agreed upon by the railway executives and the railway employees. Earlier in the day W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, advised President Coolidge of the agreement and expressed the appreciation of both groups for suggestions made by the President that the management and employees get together on legislation providing for a substitute for the railroad labor board for the settlement of disputes. Senator Watson (Rep., Ind.), chairman of the senate industrial committee, was a guest of President Coolidge at dinner tonight. A railroad legislative program, including the proposed railroad labor legislation and proposed railroad consolidation legislation, was discussed. Labor leaders who called on the President were W. N. Doak of the Brotherhood of Railroad Brakemen, D. B. Robertson of the Railway Firemen and Engineers, Bert M. Jewell, head of the shop craft unions, and Mr. Richberg.

High Lights of Agreement.

The bill, as agreed upon, provides for adjustment of disputes by conference, by adjustment boards to be set up by the carriers and employees, by a board of mediation, and by boards of arbitration. Mr. Thom explained the proposed law as follows: "The President of the United States has in more than one message to congress invited the rail carriers and their employees to confer in the effort to agree upon a method of adjusting labor disputes which will not only be satisfactory and protective of their just rights but which will also properly safeguard the interests of the public."

Bill to Congress Soon.

"An agreement has now been reached and a bill to carry it into effect will be presented to congress in the immediate future. The provisions of the bill may be summarized as follows: "First—that it shall be the duty of the parties to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements. "Second—and all disputes shall be first considered in conference between the parties directly interested. "Third—adjustment boards shall be established by agreement, which shall be either between an individual carrier and its employees or regional or national. These adjustment boards will have jurisdiction over any disputes relating to grievances or to the interpretation or application of existing agreements, but will have no jurisdiction over changes in rates of pay, rules, or working conditions. "Mediation Boards Created. "Fourth—a board of mediation is created, to consist of five members appointed by the President, with the duty to intervene at the request of either party, or on its own motion, in any unsettled labor dispute. . . . If it is unable to bring about an amicable adjustment between the parties it is required to make an effort to induce them to consent to arbitration. "Fifth—boards of arbitration are provided for when both parties consent to arbitrate. Any award made by the arbitrators shall be filed in the appropriate District court of the United States and shall become a binding judgment of the court. "Sixth—in the possible event that a dispute between a carrier and its employees is not settled under any of the foregoing methods, provision is made that the board of mediation shall notify the President, who is thereupon authorized in his discretion to create a board to investigate and report to the President within thirty days."

Melrose Park Cafe Scene of Taddeo Killing

THE CRIMINAL COURT

Morris Schubert, burglar, 1 to 10 years in the Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Worth E. Taylor.
Albert Siskel, crime against children, 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary, by Judge William N. Gemmill.

(Picture on back page.) James Campanille, 24 years old, was the third victim of a war of extermination launched on the Taddeo family of Melrose Park less than a year ago. Two men shot and killed him yesterday in the Venetian restaurant at 2211 Lake street, Melrose Park; only a few feet from the spot where Aniello Taddeo was assassinated on Sept. 27. The killers escaped, leaving behind them a customer and a 15 year old daughter of the present owner of the restaurant who witnessed the killing. The shooting occurred a few hours after the police of Melrose Park determined that a man whose bullet-riddled body was found in the same village from Joliet penitentiary, and the possessor of a criminal record dating back to 1907.

Vowed Vengeance on Killers.

Campanille, investigators learned, was not a relative of the Taddeos. He was a cook in the restaurant when Taddeo, then the proprietor, was killed on the street. Campanille is said to have vowed vengeance on the murderers. But a few days afterward he left and has recently lived in Chicago. Yesterday he went back. Mrs. Taddeo Clemente, a cousin, who succeeded Taddeo in the ownership of the cafe, asked him to go to a funeral with her. They went. When they returned from the cemetery Mrs. Clemente was too grief-stricken to work. She asked Campanille to lend a hand in the restaurant and he agreed. He was standing in the rear when the door swung open and two men entered. They called to him. He went toward them. Both drew revolvers and fired. Campanille fell, dying.

Two Are Being Sought.

Lazzaro Clemente, 1307 23d avenue, Melrose Park, was the first victim of the war. He was killed in his yard last February. No one ever explained to the police what it was about. Taddeo, it was disclosed, was a bootlegger, but it was never determined what was the direct cause of his death. Campanille lived near Miller street and Vernon Park place. Two men, known only as Tony and Freddy, said to frequent the same vicinity, are being sought. They were also sought when Taddeo was killed.

No Connection Between the Campanille Shooting and That of O'Brien.

No connection between the Campanille shooting and that of O'Brien has been traced. The latter is believed to have angered some of his underworld companions.

Take Suspect in O'Brien Case.

Haliph Pallaro, owner of a cigar store at 1515 West Harrison street, was arrested last night by Serge Weber and Phelan in connection with the O'Brien case. He said that the latter was in his store on Wednesday and that two girls came in and talked to him. He ordered a magazine from one, Pallaro said.

The Cigar Merchant Added That He Knew Nothing of the Movements of O'Brien.

He was just one of his customers. Later he admitted that he had let him have a watch and a ring, neither of which was found on the body. Pallaro will be held pending further investigation. Identification was made through finger print records.

PARIS THROWS UP BARRICADES TO STOP SEINE

London Is Swamped by Waters.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Copyright, 1926, By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Jan. 7.—The war-stricken zones north and east of Paris, shattered during the world war, are now the chief sufferers of the floods from the rain-swollen Oise and Aisne. This Tribune correspondent's tour along the old front revealed scenes of the gravest misery. Serious disaster is threatened. The A. E. F. cemetery south of Soissons, where lie the hero dead of the First and Second American divisions, which lost heavily in the allies' initial counter attack under Marshal Foch on July 18, 1918, is under water, only the tips of the white crosses showing above the water. Numerous French military cemeteries, as well as those of the Germans, also are submerged. Paris Fortifies Again. The outskirts of Paris resemble the first days of the war in August, 1914, only instead of erecting fortifications against the oncoming German hordes, the authorities, aided by military forces, are digging trenches and throwing up ramparts and sandbags against the menace of the "wall of water" which is reported to be rolling down from the east along the tributaries of the Seine and Marne. The Paris-Orleans railway tonight issued a warning of the imminent closing of the Orléans station in the heart of the city, opposite the Tuileries, because the subway, running parallel to the Seine from the outskirts of the city, is rapidly filling up, with water despite the efforts of gigantic pumps. Everywhere factories are deserted, surrounded by water-chimneys and smokestacks and machinery silent where industry is paralyzed, while the workers' families seek shelter in the higher land. Pierrefonds, the historic tourist center, is under water. Floods War's Wreckage. The Oureq and Vende are swollen. The latter is the turgid little stream the Yanks used to step across during the bloody flames, Basches, and Braine engagements. It is now a roaring torrent, flooding the still unrepared ruins of the houses of these towns. Virtually the only human victims are persons forced to live in the cellars of their unconstructed homes, which the water suddenly invaded. There are heavy losses of live stock. The rivers and streams are choked with the bodies of cows, pigs, and horses. Soldiers Flooded. Along the Aisne the outlying portion of Soissons is under water, including the brickyards and coalyards, where the French burrowed to escape the German artillery fire from the heights a kilometer away. Vic-sur-Aisne, which the Thirty-second and American divisions crossed and held en route to the Juvigny plateau, where it cracked the elbow of the Hindenburg line, is under water. The people of Chateau Thierry, which the Americans relieved from Gen. Ludendorff's forces, are in all the downtown streets. Boats take the passengers from the railway station. Puddle Out in Tubs. In one Maine town when a big row boat appeared laden with bread, the hungry people, marooned four days, leaped from second floor windows with washbasins and started paddling in these craft toward the relief boat for food. Compagnie the aid of Gen. Joffre's and then Marshal Pétain's headquarters at the end of the war, and the junction of the Aisne and Oise rivers, is entirely flooded. The bridge is impassable. The Oise is boiling down from the north to carry tons of debris and loads of animals, tearing down toward Creil, an important railway junction, which may soon be paralyzed if the river rises any more, and may carry off the worst rain storms on record. It is estimated that 25,000,000 tons of rain fell during the night and this morning. The heaviest downpour was between 8 and 10 a. m., making the streams going to the sea in the city.

Cascades flowed down the subway stairs, while torrents rushed along the gutters, flooding the sidewalks. The men were the worst sufferers, for the new high Russian boots and long raincoats protected the women.

Gales Delay Shipping

Shipping was delayed in the English channel by heavy gales. January is likely to break all rain records. The total London rainfall during the first six days surpasses the usual monthly total. The weight of the rain, which has fallen here since Dec. 18, is estimated at 180,000,000 tons.

The flooded Thames valley has become a lake region. Water is flowing into the Windsor castle grounds, virtually placing the castle on an island. Eton today witnessed a spirited battle between swans and sea gulls for possession of small submerged bits of land. Floods in the town of Maidenhead have forced the inhabitants to vacate the lower floors and take their belongings, including flocks of chickens and geese to the upper stories.

A beautiful bungalow with wide porches, attractive window curtains, and flower boxes floated down the Thames past Chertsey today, headed for the heart of London. The floods interrupted the auto bus and street car service on the outskirts of London.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Floods on the German-Dutch border swamped one village today. The inhabitants were carried off in boats. Thousands of Germans are fleeing from Holland to Germany.

Landslide Dooms Village

GENEVA, Jan. 7.—Part of the village of Schimberg is facing destruction by a sixty acre landslide inexorably approaching it. The slide, estimated to weigh one million tons, has caused inhabitants to demolish and carry their houses from the doomed section. Farmers in the region between the landslide and the village are putting down their orchards as they can at least save some firewood from the common havoc.

MEXICO FLOODED

BY JOHN CORNIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Mexico City, Jan. 7.—Heavy rains for three weeks have caused floods over much of Mexico.
In the low states of Tabasco, Chiapas, and Campeche the rivers are reported to be rising rapidly, with numerous villages flooded.
In the Pacific coast state of Nayarit the River Santiago is flooding towns and villages along its banks. The important port of San Blas was flooded. The rush of water into the port was so heavy and the debris carried out so plentiful that coast vessels standing off the port are fearful of damage. Most of the inhabitants have fled. The state is sending police to object to erecting embankments along the river.

SENATE FOES OF WORLD COURT TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Borah and Followers in Council of War.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—We have just begun to fight, said Senator Borah (Rep., Idaho), chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate, at the close of a council of war of the senators opposing the entrance of the United States into the world court. Despite the test vote of yesterday on the Reed resolution to investigate world court propaganda which showed the foes of the court in a small minority, the opposition determined at this conference to fight to the last ditch. The meeting was attended by Senators Johnson (Rep., Cal.), Shipstead (F. L., Minn.), Reed (Dem., Mo.), Fernald (Rep., Me.), Brookhart (Rep., Ia.), La Follette (Rep., Wis.), and Blewett (Dem., S. C.). The opposition represented comprises about 20 votes.

To Point Out Court's Dangers.
It was the consensus of the senators present that a comprehensive presentation of the case against the world court will arouse the country to the dangers of putting the United States into the court adjunct of the league of nations, and turn what now appears a prospective victory for the court supporters into defeat. It was pointed out that at this same relative stage the country appeared to be in favor of joining the league in 1919, but the enlightenment of the country by the irreconcilables compassed defeat of the covenant.

Senator Lenroot (Rep., Wis.), leader of the pro-court forces, said today there would be no more speeches on his side and that he would press for an immediate vote. Senator Borah replied that the proponents would find it necessary to make some more speeches or allow to go unanswered the indictment of the court which he and his fellow opponents will now begin to present. Each of the 20 opposition senators will deliver addresses against the court.

Plan to Hold Up Tax Bill

Administration leaders, it was learned, contemplate holding up consideration of the tax reduction bill in order to force through the world court resolution this month if possible. Such tactics will endanger tax relief by March 15, when the first installment of 1925 taxes is due, for the tax bill will occasion protracted debate in the senate, and if its consideration be postponed in order to get early action on the world court resolution there will be no chance of passing the revenue measure by March 15.

The question that will be put up to the country under such circumstances is whether it desires so ardently to join the world court at once that it is willing to forego a reduction in that first installment of income tax.

Fernald Opposes U. S. Joining.
Senator Fernald has come out unreservedly against the world court resolution.

"The court is the creation of the league of nations," he said. "The covenant of the league is the court's fundamental law. The court cannot ignore the law of the covenant. The court's judgments are enforced by the league of nations."

"We are a free and independent nation now, and I will not vote to shackle this country to a combine of nations. As a free and independent nation our moral support will be greater and we will be better able to assist financially than if subject to the dictates of a foreign court."

"It will be wiser for the United States to remain as it is than to become a member of this court whose de-

DARROW ATTACKS CHIEF WARNS WORLD COURT; CHECK WRITERS RAPS COOLIDGE AGAINST FORGERS

Clarence Darrow in a debate at the City club last night attacked the world court as "a creature of the league of nations—a fraud conceived in iniquity and sin." He called it dangerous to the United States and futile.

As he outlined the fallacies of the court the famous lawyer bitterly attacked President Coolidge, the late President Harding, and the late Senator Lodge.

"These men," he said, "destroyed the work done by Woodrow Wilson. The league of nations—while I do not believe in it—was at least conceived in a great ideal and it was honest. The politicians killed Wilson and the league both; and then they conceived this crooked scheme to capture the popularity of the man they killed."

Mr. Darrow's opponent, who took the affirmative in the debate, was Louis A. Stebbins, chairman of the world court subcommittee of the foreign affairs committee of the City club.

CHIEF WARNS CHECK WRITERS AGAINST FORGERS

Caution in writing checks is urged by Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins in his weekly police bulletin issued yesterday. The check forger and raiser is running rampant again, the chief warns, and regardless of the use of check protection devices and paper that defies alteration, every precaution should be exercised.

"Write your figures closely and your signature distinctly," the chief states. In many cases of check raising the word 'and' has been made to call for thousands by the forger writing 'thous' before it.

"A check with the word 'eight' may be easily altered by adding the letter 'y,' and by addition of a numeral to the figure '8.'"

COP STAGES ONE-MAN RAID.
Chief Le Roy Davidson of the county highway police yesterday arrested five women and Walter Baker, 4822 West 23d street, Otero at Forest View inn. They charged Baker with being the keeper of a disorderly house.

TRACTION UNITY,
SHORT SUBWAYS,
PLAN OF BUSBYCity Would Lose by Receivership.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

For the first time since the Dever ordinance was defeated last year, the council of local transportation companies, indicated yesterday a serious inclination to consider a new ordinance.

Detective Team Sends 147 to Prison in 1925

ment before Feb. 1 probably would avoid a receivership.

UNIFICATION of surface and elevated lines, with as little subway as possible, is essential to the best service. Downtown subway is necessary part of any unified system to be built by city's traction fund. Subway should not be started until there is unification.

TERMINABLE PERMIT, issued by city on its own terms and conditions, with state commission regulation, should be form of franchise.

TWENTY YEAR FRANCHISE, if passed by city council, would not be accepted by companies. Not possible to finance companies with needed extensions on so short a term.

"Very clearly the answer is 'No' to a 20 year franchise," said Mr. Busby.

"No doubt Mr. Busby's answer is correct," Mr. Kirkland added.

Another of the questions asked for what period the companies would accept a definitely fixed term franchise. To that Mr. Busby said he would desire a term long enough to amortize a substantial part of the capital account.

To illustrate, he suggested $100,000,000 as the investment and said he would want a term in which to amortize $100,000,000 of that total.

"Such a sum cannot be amortized in 20 years without making the fare unreasonably high, and there is a point to which the fare can be increased where the net income of the companies will be lower than could be obtained from a smaller fare," Mr. Busby said.

"To illustrate further, the amortization of $100,000,000 in 40 years would require one fare, while the fare would be lower, if the sum were amortized in 60 years, or 80 years, or a longer period."

Mr. Kirkland said the terminable permit "is a practical and scientific plan which has been adopted by nine states." Both Kirkland and Busby said a terminable permit would permit of sounder financing, which should result in better service and lower fares, and Mr. Kirkland added that the fixed term franchise should not be considered. Incidentally, both the 1918 and the Dever ordinance of 1925 both discarded the fixed term idea.

The traction representatives next were called on to say whether they favored control of transportation by a state commission, a local commission, or the city council. Both expressed preference for a state commission, although admitting that "a little politics" had been played by the Small commission. Ald. McDonough and Ald. Toman attempted by questions to make the two transportation representatives admit their judgment is unsound in preferring a state commission. But Busby and Kirkland insisted that "it has worked fairly well."

"And," added Kirkland, "there must be something good in the idea, because forty-seven of the forty-eight states have state commissions of varying degrees of control. It is more popular to be for home rule, but that is largely a catch phrase."

For Council Franchise.

Busby surprised some of the radical aldermen by urging that the terminable permit be issued by the city council on its own terms and conditions. He went on:

"Under the constitution we cannot occupy the streets without the consent of the city and in exercising that consent the city has the power to prescribe the terms and conditions."

On unification Mr. Busby reiterated what he has said for years. That, he asserted, was the way to obtain the best possible service.

The new aldermen apparently were surprised when Mr. Busby told them that private capital had to date been unable to make a subway pay because of the expense of construction is so heavy.

Mr. Busby also said that subway construction should be limited as much as possible. He did not advocate extensive operation of surface line cars in subways, but a downtown subway is a necessary part of a unified system."

He asserted significantly that 80 per cent of the car riders have contributed the city's $40,000,000 transit fund, and he thought they should have some benefit out of the spending of it.

If a receivership comes, Mr. Busby thought that the city's 55 per cent of the net receipts would not be paid nor any extensions made. He added that he did not anticipate that riders would have to pay two fares.

Jay Walking Legal in Capital, Judge Rules

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—"Jay walking" is now safe in Washington, Judge John G. McMahon today declared that Director of Traffic M. O. Eldridge has no power to direct the movements of pedestrian traffic. This decision was the result of the drive of Washington police against pedestrians who refused to obey traffic signs.

Dramatists Demand Closed
Shop; Want Split on Movies

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Dramatists of America have started a closed shop movement to protect their rights against managers who have been selling the moving picture rights to plays without a proper share of the return going to the playwright.

At a meeting in the Hotel Roosevelt today they made a report to which the name of most every representative playwright in the country is attached. They recommend that a basic contract be drawn up which must be accepted by managers who wish to produce their plays.

The report stipulates that any manager who deals with a dramatist outside the Association of Dramatists or who does not enter into an agreement with the association shall be boycotted.

Declaration Has Teeth.

Inasmuch as the new association contains the names not only of most American dramatists but of such foreign dramatists as Noel Coward, Michael Arlen, and W. Somerset Maugham their declaration carries teeth in it.

It carries the further warning that if some managers refuse to deal with them they, the authors, have other opportunities for production. Just what was meant by that, George Middleton, who did a large part of the organization, said he was not prepared to disclose. It was learned, however, that the managers have been so alarmed at the determined aspect of the playwrights and their strong strategic position that they are already forming an organization to cope with the situation. Just what this may mean, if the matter comes to open warfare, nobody would predict.

Draw Up Model Contract.

The playwrights are going ahead rapidly with the plans. After the meeting today it was agreed that a committee composed of Rachel Crothers, John Emerson, James Forbes, George Kaufman, George Kelly, George Middleton, who is chairman, Channing Pollock, Otto Harbach, J.

Hardly Manners, Le Roy Clemens, Roy Cooper, Eugene O'Neill, and Gene Buck should meet Saturday to determine the form of contract to be adopted for presentation to the managers.

At today's meeting nearly three-fourths of the 131 playwrights who signed the agreement were present. The signers include:

Achmed Abdullah, Zoe Akins, Guy Bolton, Edward Childs Carpenter, John Colton, Barry Connors, Marc Connelly, Catherine C. Cushing, Owen Davis, Dorothy Donnelly, Ashley Dukes, Edith Ellis, John Emerson, Gilbert Emery, Edna Ferber, James Forbes, Harriet Ford, James Gleason, Jules E. Goodman, N. W. Gribble, Cosmo Hamilton, Oscar Hamilton II, Otto Harbach, George V. Hobart, Avery Hopwood, and Edward Sheldon.

What Writers Demand.

The basic contract will contain the following conditions which the managers will be told they must accept: The managers shall agree not to accept plays except from members of the association, who agree not to submit a play to any manager who shall not enter into the agreement; the contract of the picture and foreign rights of the play shall be in the author; a competitive market must be conserved for moving picture rights; no secret dealings or indirect profit shall be made by a manager.

DENTISTS FIGHT QUACKERY; SAY STATE IS LAX

Society Gives $3,000 to Back Prosecution.

BY SIDNEY SUTHERLAND.
The Chicago Dental Society is about to swing a $3,000 club at individuals and firms in Chicago who are accused of practicing dentistry without a license or even a diploma attesting completion of the course required by Illinois statute.

So numerous have been the complaints recently received by the society that the committee on infraction of laws, composed of Dr. Frank J. Bernard, chairman; Dr. E. Byron Kelly, and Dr. F. J. Ryan, has been given an appropriation of $3,000 to prosecute alleged illegal practitioners. The committee charges that for several years the complaints they have received to the attention of the state department of registration and education have not been properly pressed.

Former Answers Charges.
John W. Palmer, inspector for that department, replies to this that the twelve accusations the department has received yearly have been handled expeditiously. He admits that conditions have been better so far as strictness of the law are concerned. Dr. Bernard disagrees with him. He charged yesterday that many dental laboratories are employing girls to clean, wax, and perform other duties which, he says, are assigned by law only to a licensed dentist.

Dr. Bernard showed letters from women who claim to have suffered from the ignorance of their practitioners, and he brought out circulars of firms pretending to cure all manner of oral ills for insignificant fees.

Society to Start Prosecution.
Recently a Waukegan dentist was arrested in Chicago as an auto thief. He has no license, Dr. Bernard says. Another individual has been the subject of complaints to Illinois authorities for years, the committee chairman says, but he persists in extracting heavy fees from patients along with their teeth.

"We shall begin a drastic prosecution of these crooks and quacks," Dr. Bernard declared, "whether Mr. Palmer's office cooperates with us or not. And this condition—there are hundreds of these lawbreakers in Chicago right now—will be taken up on Jan. 21, 22, and 23, when the annual midwinter dental clinic meets at the Drake hotel. We expect 10,000 dentists from all over the world; and we hope to find out at that time why Illinois officials allow such violations of its health laws to go on."

MERCIER SINKS FAST; EXTREME UNCTION GIVEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
BRUSSELS, Jan. 7.—Mr. Legraive, auxiliary bishop to Cardinal Mercier, this afternoon administered extreme unction to the aged prelate, who was operated on Dec. 29.

It is understood that the hero of Malines has reached a desperate crisis and that there is little hope for recovery, following the development of uremia and heart weakening. The doctors tonight announced that the cardinal's condition remained stationary.

B. & O. and I. C. R. R. Give Some Workers More Pay

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company has granted $300,000 a year in wage adjustments in its clerical departments and the Illinois Central an increase of one cent an hour in the wages of shopmen, according to advice to the United States railroad labor board.

GETTING RECKLESS

UNIONS WINNING PEACE STRIKE IN INDIANA MINES

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Union miners who have sought to close non-union operated mines in southwestern Indiana in a five day "peaceful" campaign today had apparently done the work thoroughly.

Following what union leaders termed a victorious climax of the drive in the announcement of James Moore, local operator, at a mass meeting yesterday that he would agree to arbitrate with a view of returning to the union basis of operation, miners failed to show up for work as expected at the Buckskin mine of the Bosse Coal company, and it was reported that the company's other mine at Chandler would follow.

Won Over by Unions.
Walter B. Korff, Bosse Coal company manager, had announced yesterday that the company's mines would be open for operation today, but Supt. John Lynn of the Buckskin mine admitted that there was no one about the shaft this morning.

The nonunion mines in Gibson and Warrick counties suspended operation Tuesday when a "peacefully invading" army of union miners appeared and inducted all the workers into the union, causing them to quit work. Indiana union mines in other southern counties were not affected.

Deadlock Continues.
New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Anthracite miners and operators, deadlocked in their attempt to negotiate a new wage contract and end the hard coal strike, are waiting apparently for something to turn up for one or the other side to break up their joint conference. After holding a long session today, they adjourned until eleven o'clock tomorrow.

COURT BATTLE PLAY FOR MAN WHEN ONLY 93

Took Beer 80 Years, Julius Klose Says.

At the age of 93, nothing is more enjoyable than to face cross-examination on the witness stand, according to Julius Klose of Whiting, Ind., who gained yesterday the distinction of being the oldest litigant to appear in a Cook county law suit.

After three hours of verbal battling with lawyers and exchanging repartee with other witnesses, Klose was reluctant to leave the stand. The aged man, little over four feet tall, was comforted by the information that he would be allowed to testify again this morning.

Asks Court for $1,000.
Klose appeared in the court of Judge John H. Marshall to prosecute his claim for $1,000 against Mrs. Charlotte Haag, 70, of 3711 Palmer street. He said he lent Mrs. Haag, with whom he boarded for a long time, that amount, but she refused to repay.

Mrs. Haag told a different story. She said she had cared for Klose for several years.

"I was a mother to him," she told the jury. "I dressed him, fed him, bought food and tobacco for him. I told him I would have to raise his board from $8 to $15 a week. I said the difference of $7 a week could apply on the $1,000 I owed him. After two years the debt was cleared away."

Drank Beer 80 Years.
"Why, that's all nonsense," exclaimed Klose, jumping to his feet. "No woman has to be a mother to me. I can take care of myself. I drank beer every day of my life for 80 years until they took it away from me."

Under cross-examination, Klose insisted on arguing with the opposing lawyer, to the delight of the courtroom.

PAINT SHAPIRO AS RULER OF BANDIT GANG

Jack Shapiro, former lieutenant of the Sanitary District police, who is now serving a sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary, was shown yesterday in Judge John P. McGorty's Criminal court to be the iron handed ruler of a bandit gang which participated in many big robberies. Shapiro, Louis Berardi, and Andrew B. Zilinski are now on trial for the $18,000 robbery of the American Railway express on Jan. 2, 1925.

"I'm running this gang and you will do as I tell you," was the command of Shapiro to members of the gang when they objected to the division of the spoils, according to the testimony given by Forest W. Gray, a former employee of the express, who has turned state's evidence. The money was split 50 per cent to the actual robbers, 15 per cent put away for lawyer's fees, and the remainder divided among Shapiro and the others who planned the job.

Bomb at Dyeing Plant Hurls Owner from Bed

The cleaning and dyeing establishment of Anton Hanzel at 2605 West 51st street was bombed last night, tearing away almost the entire front portion of the frame building and causing a damage of $2,000. The explosion jarred Hanzel and his wife out of bed in the rear of the store, where they lived. Both were uninjured. Although union trouble was denied by the tailor, police believe that such caused the bombing.

Names of four men were added to the motor death list of 1925 yesterday.

Twenty-four persons have been killed in automobile accidents in the seven days of the year.

Walking across Irving Park boulevard at New England avenue, Henry Sanders, 41 years old, 1522 North Karlov avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by M. R. Stoner of Leyden, Ill.

Sanders died in the Chicago State hospital. Irving Park police took Stoner into custody.

Dominick Pedicone, 49 years old, 8304 West Congress street, who went to his home unassisted and apparently uninjured after an automobile in which he was riding New Year's day collided with another car, died in his home yesterday. Injuries received in the accident were thought to be the cause of his death.

EVELYN NESBIT

BETTER; GOES TO NEW HOSPITAL

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who almost ended a tempestuous life with a portion of Tuesday morning, was so much improved last night that she changed hospitals.

She had been at the Ashland Boulevard hospital, which is headed by Dr. Amante Rongetti. Now she is at the West Side hospital, 1850 West Harrison street. Just before she left she promised Dr. Rongetti that she would not try again to kill herself.

COUNCIL ACTS TO BAR THUGS AS STRIKE GUARDS

Organized labor in times of strikes will be materially aided by action taken yesterday by the city council committee on judiciary.

The committee recommended for passage an ordinance which, if it passes the city council, will practically eliminate the importation of slugs or guards to the city in times of labor strikes.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson (44th), vice president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and Edward Neckels, secretary, sponsored the amendment.

It provides that detective agencies in times of strikes shall provide the chief of police with a list of every guard, special policeman and operative placed at any plant and certify that each of these guards is a citizen of the United States and has been a resident of Chicago for at least one year.

In addition the amendment bars employment of any one ever convicted of a crime. Chief of Police Morgan A.

ALLEGED GEM THIEF AGREES TO PLEAD GUILTY

Otto Schneider, alias Robert Warner, who was arrested yesterday by Sgt. Ray Gilso of the detective bureau, asserted that he wanted to go before Judge Walter Steffen today and plead guilty to a charge of attempted robbery.

Schneider was arrested in July after he entered the room of Miss Constance Chiles of the Edgewater Beach hotel, and tried to seize her jewels. Judge Borrelli held him to the grand jury in bonds of $50,000. Later this was reduced to $7,000 and Schneider forfeited the bail rather than stand trial after being indicted.

When Judge Steffen, to whom the case was assigned, heard yesterday of the arrest, he raised the bonds to $30,000. Then Schneider told of his intention to plead guilty and the judge agreed he would sentence him today.

A witness of 110 is given Corrie Safford of Reading, in the will of her aunt, Mary I. Ponsford, of Portland, Me., to pay for disbursements by the testatrix while on a visit to the Safford home.

DIES OF FALL FROM STREET CAR. Michael Milan, 64 years old, 7341 South Marshfield avenue, died yesterday of injuries received Monday, when he fell from a surface car at 65th street and Ashland avenue.

URGE BUILDING OF 250 FT. STREET TO SPEED TRAFFIC

Recommendations will be made soon to the city council for the construction of a 250 foot street or mall extending from Michigan avenue along the line of Congress or Harrison street to Western or Cicero avenues by engineers of the Chicago plan commission. It was learned yesterday.

Convinced that with the filling up of the loop to its capacity and the erection of a huge terminal just south of the loop streets now leading west will be entirely inadequate to serve the traffic, the plan commission has been working on the details for some time.

Engineers believe that such a roadway is of much more importance than the widening of either 23d street or Chicago avenue, as recently proposed.

BERLIN'S BR LOSES CHANCE SEE HER FAT

She Doesn't Attend derbit Wedding

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special Telegram] Berlin did not attend the wedding of Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt to Mr. R. T. Smith today, although she had announced that she had returned to this city on Monday.

While the couple were being married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, in New York, Berlin was in the city on business.

No explanation of why she did not appear on the occasion of the wedding was given to the newspapers, although it was reported that an invitation had been sent to her.

Bride and Groom Stay In New York. Throughout the day the bride and groom, constantly in the light since their sudden marriage, stayed at the hotel where they were married.

The number of the special train that carried the bride and groom to the ground floor by shuttle resulted in the advent of the bride and groom, who were met by the bride's father, the form of the bride, and the groom's father, in command of the train.

The shopkeepers, it was reported, were very busy, and the bride's father, the form of the bride, and the groom's father, in command of the train.

Object to Publicity. During the day all New York papers received a telegram from Berlin. It read as follows: "We desire to avoid publicity. We have never published a word for publication, except are very happy. That state repeat, and beyond that we have more to say. (Signed) Berlin."

Reports that Mr. Mackay inherited his daughter could not be confirmed. A published story that he had inherited $1,000,000 upon his father's death was denied by a business associate.

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. King Constantine of Greece, who died in exile in 1923, and the younger brother of former King Alexander, at whose death in 1920 he almost became ruler of Greece, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow morning for a five day visit at the Blackstone hotel. SPAIN'S ROYALTY WILL VISIT US IN '27, MOORE SAYS

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—King Alfonso and Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain may visit the United States next year on their way home from a tour of South America, it was announced today by Alexander P. Moore, retiring ambassador to Madrid, upon his arrival on the Berengaria with his niece, Mrs. Mildred A. Martin.

It is certain, Mr. Moore added, that the Spanish premier and dictator, Primo de Rivera, will come here to attend the sequentennial exposition at Philadelphia.

Describing the transition of the last three years as a "remarkable renaissance," he attributed much of this change to the personal magnetism, inherent ability, and far-sightedness of King Alfonso.

"WHAT'LL I DO?" WONDERS CAROL IN HOTEL FORT

LONDON, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Lady Drummond Hay, special correspondent at Milan of the London Daily Express, claims to have interviewed former Crown Prince Carol of Romania at the Hotel De Ville, where he is staying.

The prince, she says, among other things, denied the stories that he contemplates taking up a business career and going to America to deal in motor cars.

"I have no plans," he said. "I haven't thought of going to America. All that I know about motor cars is that I love to drive real speedy ones. Nobody can know what I am going to do, because I don't know myself. But, anyway, I will stay in Italy for some time, probably in Milan."

In Room for Nine Days. The correspondent described Carol as bored at being beleaguered in the hotel by newspaper men and photographers. He has not left his rooms for nine days.

"I am very trying staying indoors like this," the prince complained, wearily, "but I do not know any other way to escape public curiosity, which is making life unbearable."

Reiterating previous denials of various stories which have been printed, he went on:

"I read the English and American newspapers every day, but neither I nor Mlle. Lambrino has given any interview."

[This reference to his former morganatic wife, Mlle. Lambrino, apparently bears on stories published in Paris.] The correspondent failed to interview Mrs. Maida Lupescu, whose name has been closely associated with Carol's and who is staying at the same hotel, but claims to have got a written statement from her in which she says:

"Everybody is accusing me unjustly of being the heroine in a drama for which I am not responsible. My only fault is that I have been faithful to a friend in a critical moment of his life."

Mme. Lupescu denies that she is "the woman in the case," but the correspondent says she vaguely hints that somebody else is playing this role.

DECATUR KEPT FIVE. Mark Kennedy, owner of a delicatessen shop in the basement of 1919 West Boulevard, was fined $200 and costs yesterday by Judge Herbert G. Immenhauser after police found several gallons of whiskey and gin in his place.

A FARM PROGRAM.

If the farmers expect to accomplish anything for themselves at the present session of congress, it is time they developed a program to place on the desk of every senator and representative with the notation "This is what we want." The need for a decision on a program is nowhere so great as in the corn belt, because it is here that agricultural distress is keenest.

The Tribune offers an agricultural platform of six planks which, we believe, will go a long way toward putting agriculture on a sound footing. The measures we propose are intended to help end discriminations against the farmer, who too often does not receive in wages as much as the skilled mechanic of the cities, to say nothing of a fair return on his capital investment.

The six proposals are:

1. Raise the tolls charged at the Panama canal until the canal yields at least 5% per cent on the investment; and turn back the surplus income of the canal into the railroad pool. The canal has impoverished the western railroads by taking away much of their lucrative transcontinental business. The railroads have had to make up the loss by increasing their charges on all commodities which the farmers buy and sell. An increase in the tolls at Panama will justify a decrease in rates to the farmers.

2. Defeat the Gooding bill. The Gooding bill provides that a railroad cannot charge more for a short haul than it does for a long one. This bill, in effect, would limit the transcontinental business of the railroads even more than the Panama canal has already done because it would make it impossible for the railroads to offer special rates for transcontinental freight. If the Gooding bill becomes law the farmers of the middle west will find their rates will be advanced to pay the loss to the railroads.

3. Develop the Mississippi waterway on a full scale. The less the farmer pays for transportation of the goods he sells, the more he makes on his crops; for the prices of crops are the prices at Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and the other great markets. The farmer pays the freight to market. The farmer also pays the freight on the manufactured goods he buys. If the river transportation system is developed to its fullest capacity, the farmer's freight bills will drop. Every reduction in freight rates is money in the farmer's pocket.

4. Remove the stigma from corn sugar. Corn sugar is as wholesome for sweetening as beet and cane sugar. The pure food law requires that preserves made with corn sugar state the fact on the label, a discrimination in favor of the Cuban sugar growers at the expense of the corn-belt farmer. All uses for corn should be developed to their fullest.

5. Place an import duty on rubber, coffee, and other imported agricultural commodities held at artificial prices by national monopolies and use the proceeds to finance an agricultural export corporation. The farmers are convinced that the only way they can obtain a decent living is to dispose of the crop surpluses abroad; at a low, if necessary, thereby creating an American price for the rest. The proceeds of the import duties we have proposed could be applied to making up the loss on the crop exports.

6. Permit the manufacture of 3 or 2 1/2 per cent beer. This will encourage the production of barley and reduce by so much the land now sown to other grains. The more barley that is grown, the less will be the likelihood of a surplus of wheat, corn, or oats.

There are the six proposals. Three of them are concerned with transportation and three of them are aimed at the disposition of the crop surplus. We recommend these proposals to the farmers of the nation, particularly to those of the corn belt, for their careful consideration.

FOR A LAKE FRONT AIR
PORT.

One more stride has been taken toward realizing Chicago's natural destiny as the principal aviation center of the United States. This was the meeting held at the University club and attended by Mayor Dever, President Kelly of the south park board, Maj. Putnam, government engineer, and others, at which was recommended the creation of a permanent air development committee.

It is an unbelievably slow process to set in motion a project so vital to the city's progress. Fortunately, the business men who met at the University club are started on the right track. They are talking of an air port on the lake front, where it belongs. The city council has talked air port, and a few days ago $125,000 was inserted in the city budget, to be spent over a period of five years for the development of the air port already in the city's possession. But, unfortunately, the city council got started in the wrong direction, for Chicago's municipal air port is at 43d street and Cicero avenue. Chicago seems fatally possessed of a tendency to go after things far afield. No air port, even if it is out in the sticks, is to be despised, but we hope the city council ankles in from the south-west and gets behind the main drive, which will build the city's main air field on made land east of Soldiers' field and the Field museum.

The advantages of a lake front site are many and thoroughly convincing. To be full use the air port must be close to the center of the city. What matters it that an hour is saved in traveling by air if an hour must be added to get from the air field to the business district? A passenger business never can be built up if passengers are to be unloaded at the city's edge. A business man could step into a plane on the lake front and be in Milwaukee by the time it would take him to go by automobile to a field situated as is the one on the southwest side.

When the lake front field is completed it will be connected with the postoffice by pneumatic tube, with downtown business houses by the freight tunnel, and will be in direct line for a subway extension when Chicago gets a subway.

The war department approves of the lake front site. Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the air service speaking in Chicago some time ago, declared the cooperative absence of smoke over the lake front made it a paramount choice over any other section of the city. It has been chosen because Chicago, an army air station, provided a suitable field is created. With a lake front field the navy might very conceivably follow suit.

There is no reason why such a field cannot be made an architectural as well as an economic feature of the city. Permanent hangars are not costly. A beacon tower could be made an attraction advertising Chicago's progress for miles around.

Several obstacles must be overcome before the lake front field can be made a reality. The south park system is the logical agent to fill in the necessary land. In order to do this the city council must extend the park limits as laid down in the lake front ordinance. The Illinois Central's rights must be satisfied. It may take legislative action before the park board can legally create an airport. The cost, estimated at $1,000,000, also must be considered. It is unfair to ask the south side to bear the full burden of a project that will benefit the whole city.

It is a slow job putting through such a plan, but the time is ripe for it, and progress ought to be rapid. Thanks to Col. Mitchell, the President's aviation commission, the Hawaiian flyers, and other agencies, the public mind is primed for big developments in flying. Chicago, the natural aviation center as it is the natural railroad center, will not permit itself to be left behind.

JACKSON DAY.

The Democrats regard today, Jackson day, as something of their own. It is the anniversary of the death of Andrew Jackson, the President of the United States, who was born on the 15th of March, 1767, and died on the 22nd of September, 1845.

A national celebration of Jackson on some anniversary, preferably that of his birth, as in the case of Washington and Lincoln, would be a belated recognition of a great leader. There were few greater.

Many Democrats who pay tribute to him as a party leader today would be embarrassed in his presence if they endeavored to explain the international policies to which the party has committed itself in two presidential campaigns. There would be words, some such as got Jackson, the reputation of being a barbarian. Many Republicans would not fear much better with him, as the attitude on the world court indicates. Jackson would have to start a new party. He fought to establish the new people in their hard won lands, to put the British and the Spanish out of it, and get the Indians off it, and he was willing to fight to preserve the union of states if secessionists made that necessary.

We doubt that he would take the position that the United States was morally inferior to the rest of the world, morally a debtor to the rest of the world and morally required to surrender its initiative and decision. We also doubt that he would have any patience with such ideas if he heard them expressed, or with such policies if he found them prompted.

In Jackson's day the people of the United States were still winning their way. It was not soft for them. When he inspired an army of 6,000 men to make a stand against Pakenham's 12,000 veterans and save New Orleans, things were dark for the republic, it being unknown then that peace had been signed.

In the early days the American people had leaders devoted to the establishment and maintenance of the American nation. Their belief in the Union created it. Their belief in it preserved it. Their experience told them that the future could be betrayed by the spread of internal dissension and the development of external entanglements. The intensity of their conviction was the salvation of the nation.

It is unfortunate for the United States if the time has passed when it is possible to find a leadership to which the welfare of the United States is the matter of absorbing solicitude. It would be thought that as a nation ages it would produce this, a stronger growth from deeper soil. That would be natural.

Jackson's devotion to the Union was as intense as Washington's and as intense as Lincoln's. He was more willing to hang Calhoun than Lincoln would have been to hang Davis. The Union was only a means of bringing into existence and keeping in existence an independent republic of strength which would be able to mature and give its citizens an ideal and security with dignity.

Now the United States is second consideration in the minds of the people who are influencing it most. If that had been the principle of the old leaders there would be no United States.

Editorial of the Day

THE TRIANGLE OF PEACE.

Disarmament again is the "war" topic. Disarmament is the apex in the triangle of peace, with security and arbitration as the sides, and the spirit of good will the base. Considerable as has been the advance with respect to security and arbitration, there is no thought that permanent disappearance of the possibility of war is at hand. The aspiration is to make war less probable, especially a world conflict such as that which raged from 1914 to 1918.

To expect too much is constructive effort at this time is to invite inevitable disappointment. On the other hand to take a pessimistic that no tangible good is in sight is to deny the ability of mankind to erect, even by slow degrees, a better civilization. Locarno, inspired by the studies and suggestions that had their origin at Geneva, is everywhere characterized as the great international development of 1925. There is a chance and the opportunity is offered the world to make it a certainty that the Geneva meeting of 1925 will attain even higher rank in the record history is writing.

A FRIENDLY WARNING.

A MAN who once had consumption, and who won his way back to health, wrote the following friendly warning, and then did his best to get it to the attention of those who might need it. He had had a hard fight, but his courage and good sense had won for him.

The necessities of this fight had caused him to leave his home and career and to carry on in the arid country of the southwest. He knows and, knowing, wants to spare those who know not. He found it easy to hand out his leaflet among the people of the resort region where he lived. But what was the use?

Some would read it and a few would save it, but most of his neighbors knew consumption through having experienced it. How could he get his leaflet to the eyes of those who, having never had the disease, did not know and had no interest? He sent it to this paper and asked that it be published as he wrote it, but with a credit and with no signature. Well, here it is:

"If you have a family history of tuberculosis guard your health as you would a sacred treasure. An ounce of prevention of this trouble is worth many pounds of cure. It is not a hereditary disease, but those who have a family history of it are more susceptible to its attack than other people.

Some would read it and a few would save it, but most of his neighbors knew consumption through having experienced it. How could he get his leaflet to the eyes of those who, having never had the disease, did not know and had no interest? He sent it to this paper and asked that it be published as he wrote it, but with a credit and with no signature. Well, here it is:

"If you have a family history of this disease and find yourself (a) nervous; (b) considerably below normal weight; (c) with a persistent cough or cold; (d) with frequent blood or bloody streaks in your sputum occasionally, the chances are that you have incipient tuberculosis. Do not deceive yourself and do not let anybody else deceive you. Don't get scared either. Get busy and build up your health until the disease is overcome and thrown off.

HALF FINISHED JOB.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(To the Legal Friend of the People.)—I signed a contract with a contractor to build a house for me. The contract was over three weeks and the house was not half done. He has done nothing for over a week. The money was deposited in the bank and is ready to be paid out. But he does not work on the house. Have I the right to cancel the contract and pay him for the work done and hire another builder to complete the building?

J. K.
Your rights depend largely on the wording of the contract that you signed. You have a personal interview with a lawyer who can go over all the facts at first hand.

MARRIAGE AND CITIZENSHIP.

If an American woman marries a foreign man does she give up her American citizenship rights?

If a child is born to American parents on the high seas can it enjoy American citizenship?

NEW YORK.—The steamer Star of the West was chartered by Gen. Scott to carry supplies and reinforcements to Maj. Anderson, Fort Sumter.

CHICAGO.—Miss Anna Freya Rubens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rubens, 52 Walton place, and Emil William Rubens, married at St. James Episcopal church by Dr. James S. Stone.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Adelaide M. Harding of Evanston is cut off without a cent in the will of her husband, George P. Harding, who died on Dec. 27 at the age of 85.

CHICAGO.—Where Harding spent the last part of his life, and her two children, Olga and Eric, are given a liberal allowance. None would say what her husband's will was, but it was a good one. State Senator George P. Harding, a son, is made sole executor and residuary legatee of the estate, estimated at $500,000. Two daughters, Susan and Adelaide, and a son, Victor, are given small yearly allowances, their shares being cut, the will says, because they aided their mother in her long litigation with Harding.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Four persons were shot dead, and twenty-three wounded when a mob of 6,000, mostly foreigners, battled with private police at the plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube works in East Youngstown and looted and burned a greater part of the city. The rioting is the outgrowth of a strike which started a week ago. The rioters killed the city's only evening paper, the Youngstown Times, and fifteen city blocks were in ruins. Other fires, set by the drink-crazed mob, lit up the skies for miles. At 8 a. m. soldiers arrived and took charge of the situation.

JANUARY 8, 1901.
CHICAGO.—The city council passed the Cary ward redistricting ordinance over the veto of Mayor Harrison.

CHICAGO.—The mayor declared the ordinance will be taken into court, where an attempt will be made to invalidate it because of many irregularities in the population of wards. The ordinance was supported by the "gang" of Ald. Powers and some of the other ward politicians.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Twenty and thirty children are dead and at least forty injured, many of them badly, they will die, as the result of a fire which wrecked the Hubbell orphan asylum here. There were 130 inmates and nearly all had to leap from windows.

THE OPEN ROAD.

I never knew the white clouds
Or way the young gulls fly.
And I could sleep beneath a roof
And hear the winds go by;
I never cared to know then
What lay behind a hill,
And I could race from day to day
Content with life . . . until

There came a man with dark hair
Who looked at me and played
A violin of sun-wood
With skillful hand he made;
And something of the music
He wrought into a tune
Crept in my heart and made me love
The white road and the moon.

I turned my young feet down his road,
Nor told my lover why,
For white roads run across the hills
That crowd against the sky;
How could I live within a house
And be a rich man's wife
When visions of sun-wood
Croon songs of gypsy-life?

I never knew the young gulls,
The white road or the moon,
Until a man with dark hair
Played me a gypsy-tune;
And laid as he who stole me
Will be my tiny chi . . .
I'll wait no other road than this
Until the day I die!

DONTFARRIN.

THE TRIBUNE says a Chicago business man has brought suit against a girl to whom he gave ten thousand dollars' worth of presents, but finds the lady has disposed of them. He became a business man too late.

In These Days.
R. H. L.: How come all this breeze about prohibition being better than no liquor at all? The liquor situation doesn't worry me at all, but last New Year's Eve, when the b. and c. (bull and con) sent me out for a pint of gin and a dozen oranges, I had to go to nine stores to get the oranges.

R. H. L.: THA SKIPPER UP THA DREDNOT KIN NOT DISCOURAGE ME THO I DO TOO KNOW THA KINGS ENGLISH STOP SO IS THA PRINCE UV WHALES STOP US POETS AL KNOW THAT STOP POEM ALMOST REDDY.

It Opens Around.

R. Henry L.: Down in Springfield THE TRIBUNE declared that the state fire marshal was quite perplexed over a certain question. "Does a revolving door swing inward or outward?" That got me thinking about it. And I thought and thought. Now I can't sleep. I can't eat, all the time I think, think, think—does a revolving door open outward or inward? Oh, tell me, tell me, or I shall go mad.

HOW LOVELY AND BALMY THESE DELIGHTFUL JANUARY DAYS ARE IN CHICAGO!

Spring is behind. Joe Le Prince, the skeeter Nemesis, arrived yesterday. With Joe in town telling us how to get rid of mosquitoes we feel no envy of Florida, Southern California, or the Bermuda. Spring is likely to pop in now most any minute.

YES, HENRY'S AN M T A NOW.

Oh, Dick: Do you think it was nice of you to do that to me? I only had one good "line" to use when any one spoke slightly of your line. It was: "Well, perhaps the line isn't a thing to which H. L. Mencken would subscribe; but it is a thing to which half of Chicago and all of Iowa aspire."

Now, you've gone and let Mencken in and my own line is ruined, and it is so hard to think of another with the twins whooping all over the place. Demmit all!

If You Drink Enough You Do.

R. H. L.: Page Mr. Yelloweye. "Evelyn Nesbit Drinks Poison" (headline in CM American). So do a lot of the rest of us in these piping prohibition times—only we don't get any headlines. F. M. H.

Concerning La Rah.

R. H. L.: Gosh, can't send you stuff and have it printed like we send it? You're as bad as some other papers we could mention. I ain't said the turkey's name was Laura at all. I says it was La Rah, see, La RAH, like that. I tell you this here is serious business and I don't mean perhaps! And you didn't describe her good—she weighed 13 pounds with her clothes on and her voice was soft and sweet and low, and gosh, she was worth 65 cents a pound as was; and she wasn't really our turkey. Won't be to say—er—of Howard P. S.: Don't forget to say La Rah is worth more now on count of the Crystal.

HONESTLY, we're worried to death by that contr in this column about our nice white ink signature knocking off the cover of the Linebooks.

Here we've sat up every night until one and two in the morning carefully manhandling Linebook covers with that white paint ink and then to be told that it falls off. Life is just one doggone disappointment after another! What's the use?

What! Rubs Off? No, No, No, Don't Say That!

Dear Mr. Little: Won't you please tell us in the Line what the recipient said when they found that your lovely white ink—It's so good looking! (1)—RUBS OFF? And further, what of posterity?

Ya know, Dick, it would have to be a female to have any such a perverted sense of humor. Try to imagine any male laughing immediately after the holidays with their accompanying flat pocketbooks and mountains of bills. They say women was made from the rib of man, but I think it was his funny-bone.

THERE was so much about gorgeous flowers and floral pieces and diamonds and rubies and things at Constelo Vanderbilt's wedding in New York at first we thought we were reading an account of a bootlegger's funeral in Chicago.

Too Late—But 1927 Is Coming.

R. H. L.: Oh! I am so worried, please, please help me. Won't you? There is only 355 more days left till Christmas and I haven't as yet thought of a present that would satisfy my sweet sugar. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated, but hurry, hurry, hurry.

A CHANCE TO GET EXPERT ADVICE ON SUBWAYS.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—According to Mr. Jenkins' article in today's TRIBUNE, the American Road Builders' association will be in convention here next week with more than 20,000 highway officials, engineers and contractors in attendance. This convention will discuss problems of urban and suburban traffic as well as national highway construction.

Why wouldn't it be a good plan for the Chicago traffic department to bring up the discussion of the subway situation in this city as an example of the problems other cities will face in the future, and get the opinions of internationally known experts on the advisability of the immediate construction of a subway? The matter could easily be brought up to the advantage of all engineers and city officials present, during one of the informal periods, and result in valuable information to the people of Chicago as well as Chicago officials themselves. STEALING PLUMBING FIXTURES.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—In your issue of this date you attempt to give the public an estimate of the losses in merchandise and cash during the year just closed. You fail to mention one very large item. This is the burglarizing of vacant houses and flats. I can only speak for the south side and the territory from 12th to 47th streets and east of State street. I will say the losses suffered by owners of houses and flats would approximate $100,000 in the last year.

I personally have had four houses completely stripped of plumbing, including bathtubs, toilet bowls, lavatories, and gas fixtures; my loss being about fifteen hundred dollars. In some instances they have taken gas ranges, brass door knobs and plate glass. This may account in way for so many junk stores along South State street.

There should be a city ordinance prohibiting any one from buying second hand plumbing fixtures except of a licensed plumber, and all junk men with this stuff in their wagons should be arrested. This would help some. We cannot get insurance covering this kind of a risk, and we seem to have no police protection to prevent it.

FROM A MOVIEGRAB WINNER.

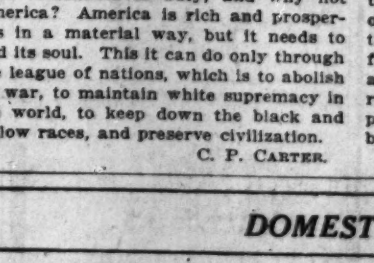

Marquette, Ill., Jan. 2.—I want to thank you very, very much for the check of $100 that you sent me as a prize for the moviegrab which I sent in. You cannot imagine how happy I am and how surprised I was when I saw that I had won a prize. I could hardly believe it. This is the most money I have ever had at one time and it is the only money that I have now, so it certainly comes in handy for me. I hope that others that need the money as bad as I did will be lucky enough to win a prize like this.

COMPLAINT FROM CICKO AVENUE.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—If kicking does no good toward ameliorating certain conditions now existing in the service of our surface lines, I am for kicking. On any one's explanation why we have such inadequate service on Cicero avenue between 29th and 63d, I am for kicking. It's a common occurrence to see great multitudes of people gathered at the intersection of Grand and Cicero avenues, shivering in the cold waiting for the arrival of a Cicero car. Some of them take their home. When a car does come along it is either so full that the conductor doesn't even attempt to open the doors, or it happens to get stuck in traffic. I have walked home from Grand and Cicero (a distance of about ten blocks) on several occasions rather than wait in vain; but most of the people are not as fortunate as I am. I am able to make the last lap alone.

French fire aroused. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.] PARIS, Jan. 7.—Indignation is growing by leaps and bounds in Paris as a result of the return of French secret service men handling the 30,000,000,000 franc counterfeiting plot in Budapest and their revelations of its enormity. Convinced that the affair was intended as a body blow to the French currency and France's prestige, the little entente, as well as to finance a monarchist coup, the French press is furious and brands the Magyars as a race which does not learn and does not forget anything.

Poisoning from Vaccination Kills Boy, Jury Decides. Chester Zakroczynski, 7 years old, 4944 South Racine avenue, died at the county hospital of blood poisoning which followed a vaccination, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday. Chester was inoculated by a city physician shortly before Christmas at the John Hamilton school. Blood poisoning developed four days later. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday and died the same day.

THREE CONVICTS HELD INSANE IN JIG TIME TRIAL

Something new in handling convicts who become insane developed yesterday at the Cook County Psychopathic hospital. Three prisoners were brought there from Joliet penitentiary, the prison alienist said they were insane, one was asked if he heard voices and he said yes. Then they were adjudged insane and two ordered committed to Kankakee asylum and one to Elgin.

Judge I. L. Weaver of Sterling, Ill., was acting as county judge and he presided over the proceeding. It was explained the men were eligible to parole and the prison authorities decided to send them back to the county from which they were received, as the Chester prison is overcrowded. Local officials say Elgin and Kankakee asylums are also overcrowded.

Frank Bakalla, one of the prisoners, was convicted of assault with intent to commit murder on Oct. 30, 1924. The other two are Raymond Cox, convicted of larceny, and Charles Conway, found guilty of robbery.

Today's Linen Talk at 11:30 "The Use of the Small Table"

The small table has been growing steadily in importance since the dining room is vanishing from so many apartments. It can be pulled into the most intriguing corner of the house, in front of the fire in winter, or on the porch in summer. Mrs. Shreve Badger will talk today on "The Use of the Small Table in Informal Entertaining." What appointments can be used, the occasion, bridge, tea, and many other fascinating ideas, will be considered.

CROWE-BARRETT RALLY TO NAME TICKET JAN. 26

Busse Leaves Them for Deneen Alliance.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.
Crowe-Barrett leaders, who this week broke their alliance of several years standing with former Attorney General E. J. Brundage, have called a county nominating and platform convention for Jan. 26.

State making that is unfinished by that time will be completed, an endorsement of candidates will be made, and a platform for the April primaries will be drafted.

While the Crowe-Barrett strategy board was meeting at the Hotel Sherman headquarters yesterday County Commissioner William Busse, former county towns ally of that faction, issued a statement announcing his candidacy for president of the county board and declaring his allegiance to the Deneen camp which he recently joined after a split with County Reviewer Weber in the Republican county towns organization.

Deneen Men After County Role.
Deneen forces plan a strong drive for control of the county towns territory in Cook county and bank most of their hopes on Busse.

Crowe-Barrett leaders declare that their gains in organization strength more than offset losses as a result of the new alliances, despite the breaks with Brundage, Busse, and Coroner Wolff.

With his pal, George F. Harding, allied with the Crowe-Barrett wing, and sensing a chance to battle several common enemies, former Mayor William Hale Thompson plans to lend his aid to this group in the coming primary. Thompson sees an opportunity to strike back at some of his old and lately acquired foes, including Gov. Small and Fred Lundin.

At yesterday's war council of Crowe-Barrett leaders a long list of candidates for the Municipal court was presented by ward leaders. These names, which include nine of the ten sitting Republican judges whose terms expire this year, will be presented to the convention for the twelve Municipal court places on the ticket.

Municipal Court Candidates.

The list includes Judges Samuel H. Trude, John A. Bugee, William R. Fetter, Joseph W. Schulman, Ann G. Adams, Henry M. Walker, Robert E. Gentzel, William L. Morgan, and Lawrence B. Jacobs, and in addition the following, with their wards indicated: Stanley Klarkowski (3), Edward B. Luctus (19), Max Loehwing (16), Daniel Anderson (18), L. N. Blumenthal (49), John Sbarbaro (42), John P. Philp (42), Eugene D. Sullivan (52), Charles K. Jensen (39), Robert E. McMullan (39), Claude Dallenberg (9), Harry O. Rosenberg (13), Henry E. Ayres (5), Charles L. Swanson (47), Edwin A. Feldott (41), Charles C. Roe (3), Rudolph Shapiro (9), and A. J. Chott (36).

Martin J. O'Brien, chairman of the Democratic managing committee, has called a meeting of the committee for Jan. 14 for slate-making purposes.

DEMOCRATS EYE GOV. RITCHIE ON CHICAGO TRIP

See Presidential Material for 1928.

Democracy focuses its attention on Chicago today for careful consideration of the words that fall from the lips of Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, one of the party's outstanding presidential possibilities for 1928, who will address the Trojans club at its annual Jackson day banquet at the Hotel Sherman tonight.

Democrats throughout the country have been waiting for this occasion on which to base speculations on Gov. Ritchie as a prospect in the 1928 national convention. What he says is expected to have an effect on the leaders. Gov. Ritchie, a well conservative who broke the Democratic tradition of his state by being twice re-elected, has commanded attention to himself both irrespective of other candidates and as the likely recipient of support from the bankers of Gov. Al Smith of New York if the religious question puts the nomination beyond the reach of the popular Al.

Ritchie is a Protestant, Smith a Catholic, but outside of this popularity is rooted in much the same ground.

Gov. Ritchie will arrive in Chicago at the Grand Central station at 9 a. m. today. He will be met by a delegation of Democratic leaders and be escorted to the city hall for a reception in Mayor Dever's office. This will be followed by a tour of the south park system with E. J. Kelly, president of the park board.

More than 3,000 reservations have been made for the banquet tonight. Tomorrow evening Gov. Ritchie will be the guest of Charles H. MacDowell at a dinner at the Drake hotel.

CITY BRINGS OUT BEST, WORST IN PEOPLE, CLAIM

Mobility of city life, with its increase in the number and intensity of stimulations and its lack of permanent abiding places, confuses and demoralizes people, according to a sociological study, "The City," made by Prof. Robert E. Park, Ernest W. Burgess, and Roderick McKenzie of the University of Chicago.

"In our studies of the city we have found that the areas of mobility are also the regions in which are found juvenile delinquency, boys' gangs, crime, poverty, wife desertion, divorce, and abandoned infants," says the report.

"The city shows the good and evil in human nature in excess," says Prof. Park. "Where mobility is the greatest primary control breaks down and there develops areas of demoralization, promiscuity, and vice. The disintegrating influences of city life have caused great modification of the church, school, and family. The city tends to become the reservoir into which the surplus population drains from the smaller communities."

Park Board Asks Bids on 17 Comfort Stations

Acting on the first recommendation of its newly formed advisory council of 200 west side citizens the west park board yesterday called for bids on seventeen comfort stations to be erected at prominent corners on the west side. The stations will be erected at a cost approximating $8,000 each. The board also called for bids on an addition to the Franklin park pavilion. Improvement bonds totaling $31,000 were paid off by the board yesterday.

NYE'S CHANCES HINGE ON WHO IS A STATE OFFICER

Hears Right to Sit in the Senate Attacked.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota—who does not look the romantic Gerald type—sat on a sofa in the rear of the United States senate chamber for four hours this afternoon and wondered what it was all about.

He had to hear Senator Guy Goff (Rep., W. Va.) expounding all the reasons since 1793 why young Mr. Nye should not sit in the senate until the people of North Dakota hold a special election next June to select a successor to their late Senator Ladd, who died in office last year.

Constitution is involved.
The seventeenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is involved. It says:
"When vacancies happen in the representation of any state in the senate the executive authority of such state shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies; provided, that the legislature of any state may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct."

Now, you would not think that any state executive could drive a cart and four horses through that, but, according to Goff, Gov. A. G. Sorlie of North Dakota did do it when he appointed young Mr. Nye to fill Senator Ladd's place until June.

For the trick in the whole involved proposition is, according to Goff, that the legislature of North Dakota did not properly "empower" the governor to make the temporary appointment, as the constitution requires it shall. What it's All About.

Then comes trick No. 2, which is that by an act of 1917 the North Dakota legislature did empower governor Sorlie to make such appointments "in the absence of the legislature." In "state and district of some by appointment."

What many thousands of the thousands upon thousands of words with which Senator Goff enraptured the senate led up to and backed away from was this:
"Is a United States senator a state officer?"

As long ago as 1793, according to Senator Goff, Senator James Ashton Bayard of Delaware said that a United States senator was not a state officer, but "an officer of the United States." And the senate of his day agreed with him. So does the majority

BAR ASSOCIATION FAVORS CHICAGO FOR U. S. HOME

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Establishment of a national headquarters and permanent home and clubhouse, with Chicago as the site, was brought up at today's session of the American Bar association executive committee here.

In discussion following the report Chicago's importance as a central location was stressed. E. A. Zimmerman and E. W. Everett were spokesmen for Chicago.

The executive committee today authorized a step in the direction of the permanent national headquarters by authorizing rental of an office building in Chicago for joint use of the secretary of the American Bar association and the staff of the American Law Journal.

W. P. MacCracken of Chicago, secretary of the association and chairman of its aeronautics committee, submitted a report recommending congress be asked to pass a civil aeronautics act, vesting the power of regulation of aviation with the federal government.

URGES EXCHANGE OF LEADERS TO STUDY POLITICS

German Here to Tell City of His Plan.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

An exchange of young leaders of the United States and Germany to bring about a fuller understanding of economic and political conditions is being urged by Dr. Ernst Jackh, founder and president of the University of Political Science, established in Germany in 1920. He is here to interest Chicagoans in the project, which has the commendation of Alanson B. Houghton, former ambassador to Germany and present ambassador to Great Britain. Mr. Houghton writes that the new university is "one of the strongest and most effective liberalizing elements in German life."

For many years Dr. Jackh has been a figure in the political life of Germany. He has specialized on the Near East and the League of Nations. He has been to Versailles as a peace delegate and has been a member of the subsequent conferences, including Locarno.

How Plan Would Work.

The idea, which is the modern substitute for the pre-war exchange professors and scholarships, is to select mature, well informed persons from various groups and to send them over for a period of research and observation, especially on subjects relating to economics, politics, and phases of government under the republican form.

"After the war," said Dr. Jackh yesterday, "Germany's great problem was the political education of its people and the education of the world to an understanding of the new republic. The old Germany was not politically minded. The reichstag before the war had no rights to speak of—it was a place for making speeches, not a constructive gathering to control the destiny of the nation."

Had Few Able Leaders.

"Putting the new Germany, the republic, into the hands of people eager to govern themselves required the development of leaders of knowledge, training, experience, of which Germany had but a few. To make up this lack, the University of Political Science was founded. Our idea was to foster the political education of the new Germany, to build up among its youth a new spirit based on an understanding of the republic and its needs. President von Hindenburg strongly favors our work."

"Our greatest desire was to secure for the new Germany an institute that would foster scientific and political independence. The university opened in 1920. Within its walls was nurtured the spirit of Locarno. Two years after it opened we worked out a solution in actual treaty form, which we named the 'security compact,' and this later became the foundation of the treaty of Locarno. The Dawes plan gave economic peace, Locarno gives security."

Seeks American Cooperation.
"My mission here is to seek American cooperation in building with us, understanding the Germany of today. By understanding alone can there be kindness and peace. When I spoke to former Ambassador Houghton, he suggested exchange scholarships of students and professors. That is valuable, but what is more important is to have an exchange relationship between the present day and future leaders of the two countries. Mr. Houghton agrees with me."

"Our idea is to create a foundation with the purpose to find out the young leaders of today and the potential leaders of tomorrow in Germany and America and later in Great Britain, and to send them across not for theoretical study in a university or merely for travel, but for individual contact, research and observation. The idea is an exchange of men and women who are mature taken out of the political, economic, the practical life of the two countries."

"Stephen P. Duggan, president of the Institute of International Education is organizing a committee to further the exchange work."

"Riding down Michigan avenue on the bus, I saw traffic towers and signals. Take away the traffic signals, and you'd get some idea of the Europe of yesterday—chaos. The treaty of Locarno is the first traffic tower for Europe. I have come over to help build a traffic tower between Germany and the United States, to secure for our mutual understanding the spirit of Locarno."

DRIVE AGAINST SMOKING STACKS WINS CONVERTS

One apparent persistent offender against the anti-smoke ordinance stood out yesterday in a survey of Chicago's skyline.

This offender was the Morrison hotel. An intermittent observation of the funnel which protrudes from the roof of this hotel at Clark and Madison streets, the heart of the downtown district, was made from 2:45 until 4 o'clock.

Not once during this period was a slackening noted in the black column which ascended from the hotel's stack and drifted its leisurely way southward over the city.

Stack Smokes 13 Minutes.
From 2:45 until 3:58—thirteen minutes—a steady watch was kept on the chimney. The smoke continued to pour out without interruption during this time.

According to the wording of the smoke ordinance, this constitutes a violation. The ordinance permits only six minutes of smoking within an hour.

In the plain, however, the recent watchfulness imposed on the city's chimneys by Chief Smoke Inspector Frank Chambers and his aids appears to be having a telling effect.

While other prominent funnels of the loop intermittently belched their enveloping clouds as usual, a canny regard for the law was evident. Almost invariably ascending columns trickled out before expiration of the allotted six minutes.

Factory Engineers on Alert.
Recent agitation has also placed building engineers of the near north-west side factory district on the alert, an inspection indicated. Only one chimney in this section, thickly dotted with large and small manufactories, was actually caught in a violation of the ordinance, and that one infraction could not be considered flagrant, smoke inspectors said.

This one exception was the chimney of the plant owned by the Russell Electric company at 340 West Huron street and occupied by several other concerns. Promptly at 3:01 o'clock the huge brick stack atop the Russell building began to emit its black cloud. At 3:15—five minutes beyond the prescribed limit—the cloud ceased. But at 3:20 it started again, continuing for four minutes—a total infraction of nine minutes.

Thomas C. Russell, head of the firm, said his engineers are instructed to observe the smoke ordinance strictly, and that his company is anxious to cooperate in abating the smoke nuisance.

The score or more other stacks in the immediate vicinity were periodically active, though they were observed to keep carefully within the legal limit. One, at the plant of H. Schultz & Co., paper box makers, 531 West Superior street, ceased its outpouring within a split second of the deadline.

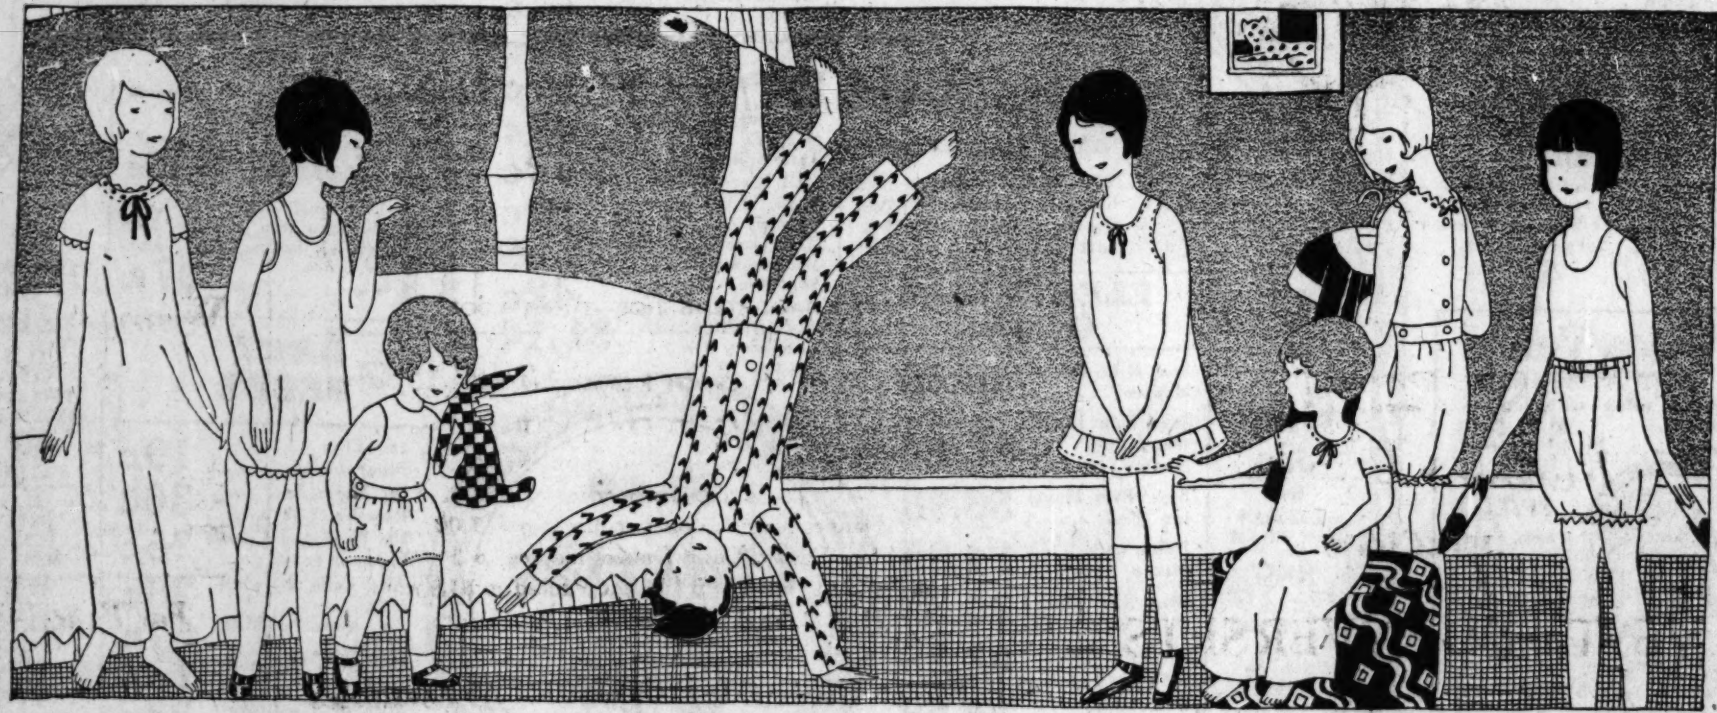

But the hundreds of railroad switch engines still puffed smokily away beneath the forests of roundhouse chimneys.

PASTEURIZATION GOOD, COW TEST BEST—BUNDESEN

Asserts Both Safeguards
Are Necessary.

Views held on pasteurization of milk by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, commissioner of health, were stated by him last night. In his statement Dr. Bundesen clarifies the situation for Chicago consumers, who have been left in doubt by a mass of statements of opinion, some contradictory. The commissioner's formal declaration follows:

"I have constantly maintained and still feel that pasteurization makes the milk delivered in Chicago as safe as it is humanly possible to make it under the existing conditions, and we are urging that every one continue to drink milk as a necessary item in the daily diet."

"Better Milk from Healthy Cows."
However, we are striving to make milk even more wholesome by having it come from cows free from disease. "Chicago's babies and children are entitled to the best milk, and the best milk comes from healthy cows. Unquestionably, pasteurized milk from healthy cattle is superior to pasteurized milk from diseased cattle."

"Pasteurization is a wonderful thing and has done a great deal to reduce sickness and the death rate. The programs of pasteurization and tuberculosis eradication should go forward at the same time. Both are essential; neither alone is adequate to assure at all times that milk is entirely safe and wholesome."

"Pasteurization a Safeguard."
"Milk, even though efficiently pasteurized, should come from cows that are healthy, and should be produced in a sanitary manner."

"Pasteurization should be used as the additional and vitally important safeguard against contamination." Further support of Commissioner Bundesen's fight for pure milk was given yesterday when the board of directors of the Woman's City Club of Chicago unanimously approved his announced intention of having milk from tuberculous cows beginning April 1.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, corresponding secretary, said in a letter to the commissioner that she had been instructed to express to him the club's commendation of your courageous action in this matter. The people of Chicago have come to be careful of you for taking measures which guard their own and their children's health."

SEEK BAN ON TAMPA SMALLPOX NEWS AS EPIDEMIC THREATENS

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Asserting the smallpox situation here was bordering on an epidemic, Dr. H. C. Levy, city health officer, prepared today to carry the fight into homes through printed circulars. This was made necessary, he said, by the lack of sufficient newspaper publicity, which he termed his "greatest weapon" to combat the spread of the disease.

The Kiwanis club went on record yesterday as being opposed to any publicity on the number of smallpox cases in the city. A committee was named to call on the publishers of newspapers. The smallpox scare started about three weeks ago. Since Dec. 27 twenty-eight cases have been reported, bringing the total to 32.

Chicago Cop Takes Post as Chief of Hinsdale Force

Nicholson, whom he succeeded, will continue as head of the village department of public service, which he held in connection with the police position.

CHARGE BRITISH BROKE FAITH ON RUBBER PRICES

Agreed to Maximum of 36c, House Quiz Told.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(Special.)—Charges that British rubber growers broke a promise that prices of crude rubber would not exceed 36 cents per pound were made by American rubber manufacturers today before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, which is investigating foreign controlled monopolies.

The witnesses were F. A. Seiberling, president of the Seiberling Rubber company of Akron, O., and former head of the Goodyear company; W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the Goodrich Rubber company, and A. L. Viles, also accused the American rubber manufacturers of making excessive profits in a speech in the house. He attacked Secretary Hoover for his attitude.

MAY END RESTRICTION.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 7.—The colonial office has recommended the colonial governments concerned to consider the advisability of removing the restrictions on rubber under the Stevenson act, the necessity having passed. In any case it already has decided to release the entire production next month.

CALL SARGENT IN SENATE QUIZ ON MELLON FIRM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—(AP.)—Officials of both the department of justice and the federal trade commission will be called tomorrow as witnesses in the senate investigation of the failure to bring contempt proceedings against the Aluminum Company of America.

This was decided today by the senate judiciary committee, which deferred until tomorrow the beginning of an inquiry sponsored by Senator Walsh (D., Mont.) and involving a company in which Secretary Mellon is a large stockholder.

ASK CALIFORNIA TO PARDON SCOTT TO FORCE RETURN

Bringing Robert Scott from California to stand trial for the murder of Joseph Maurer, which his brother, Russell Scott, said he committed, is beset with technicalities, Assistant State's Attorney O. J. Chott declared last night.

Scott, as John Redding, has paid his debt to California, Prosecutor Chott explains. The prisoner was sentenced to a short term for an attempted robbery of a store in San Francisco and was declared eligible for parole before it was suspected he was Scott. That halted the parole proceedings.

STONE CITED ALLEGED VIOLATION

Mr. Stone, in his letter, said the report submitted by the commission made it appear that the company had violated several provisions of the consent decree under which the company was enjoined from certain practices held to have been in restraint of trade and competition.

The statement of the department of justice declared that while the inquiry conducted by the department had not been completed thus far, no evidence had been developed to show a violation of the consent decree.

BETTER HOUSING FOR U. S. ARMY IS PLEA OF DAVIS

Sees Fire Danger in 'Tinder Box Quarters.'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Passage of pending measures to authorize the war department to sell useless or unused realty to finance the comprehensive army housing program was recommended to the house military affairs committee today by Secretary of War Davis in the "interests of economy, efficiency and indeed, decency and humanity." The proposal has already received the approval of the senate, the secretary pointed out.

More than 40,000 officers and men in the United States Pantheon and Hall are living in temporary, tinder-box quarters, where the danger of fire with its almost certain loss of life is the gravest problem now confronting the war department, Mr. Davis asserted. Many of the temporary wartime barracks have been converted into hospitals.

Buildings Become Unserviceable.
On June 30, 1925, the secretary continued, the department had temporary quarters for 166,399 men. Since that time, nearly 25 per cent of them have become unserviceable—that is, they have been burned down, collapsed or been blown down by storms. Another considerable number were taken down because of their unsafe condition or to provide material to repair other temporary structures.

Until congress has passed the pending bill and it is known how much money can be realized for the sale of the several unused reservations, the budget bureau refuses to consider any suggestions for appropriations for a new building program, Mr. Davis told the committee.

Danger in Present Conditions.
"In conclusion," said Mr. Davis, "please allow me to say: The present conditions are uneconomical, unfair to personnel, dangerous to health and life. The remedy proposed takes no money from the treasury, permits more economical operation, safeguards our men. Every sale, every use of the proceeds must come before congress for approval. The interests of economy, efficiency, indeed of decency and humanity will be promoted by the passing of this bill."

Chicago's business and industrial interests were charged with having clipped the transcontinental railroads into applying to the interstate commerce commission for authority to reduce rates to Pacific coast points, in testimony given today before the senate interstate commerce committee by James A. Ford of Spokane, Wash. The Chicago Association of Commerce was charged by Mr. Ford as having sent threatening messages to the railroads to force them to apply to the commission for permission to establish the rates.

DEMOCRATS CAN NOT AGREE UPON TAX LAW ADVICE

Differ in Committee on Reduction.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Democratic members of the senate finance committee found difficulty today in attempting to reach an agreement on the aggregate of tax reduction which they will urge upon the full committee.

The minority members of the committee, in conference most of the day, failed to come to agree on their program. It was understood that they were a unit in urging a tax cut as high as $400,000,000, which would be an increase of $75,000,000 above the amount provided in the house bill, but some wanted the total boosted as high as $500,000,000.

Involved in the controversy is the policy to be pursued in connection with the retirement of the public debt, the Democrats preferring to increase the amount of tax reduction and delay the wiping out of the war debt.

Agree on House Exemptions.
The Democrats were said to be virtually agreed upon the approval of the increases in personal exemptions, as provided by the house bill. The exemption for single persons is increased from $1,000 to $1,500 and for heads of families, from $2,500 to $3,500. The Democrats originally were inclined to increase the exemption for heads of families to $5,000.

For Florida Boom Regulations.
Amendments dealing with a situation growing out of the Florida land boom were introduced in the senate today by Senators Fletcher (Dem., Fla.) and Trammell (Dem., Fla.).

Their purpose is to change a ruling by the board of tax appeals that notes as well as cash are taxable under the capital gain tax of 12½ per cent. It is proposed in the amendments that when land is sold partly for cash and partly in notes only the cash shall be taxed at once, the notes not being taxed until exchanged for cash.

U. S. AGENTS NAB HEAD OF BIGGEST DOPE RING HERE
With the arrest yesterday of C. V. Gress federal narcotic agents declared they had the principal in the largest drug peddling ring ever uncovered in Chicago. Gress was arrested by Agents William Spillard, Joseph Callahan, and Michael Byrne as he stepped off a Santa Fe train from Hollywood.

The headquarters of the ring was at 6 East Ontario street, in a barber shop, according to the agents. John Harris, a race horse owner, the proprietor there, was secretly indicted a week ago with Gress. The operations of Gress and Harris were far more extensive than those of Kitty Gilhooley, sentenced recently to a federal prison, the agents said. The two men were said to have had fifty peddlers working for them, particularly on the near north side.

CHARLES SERGEL DIES; EX-HEAD OF SANITARY BOARD

Charles H. Sergel, former president of the sanitary district and former city treasurer, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 4578 Oakwood avenue. He was 64 years old.

Mr. Sergel had been ill with influenza for a week, but seemingly was improving. For a while yesterday he was permitted to sit up in bed and while doing so suffered a relapse and died within ten minutes.

For forty years Mr. Sergel had been in the publishing business in Chicago, being president of the Dramatic Publishing company. He had also been affiliated with other publishing concerns.

When William Hale Thompson was first elected mayor, Sergel was elected with him as treasurer. He had as his running mate John Siman, who was elected city clerk.

Both Sergel and Siman were progressives. During the primary of 1915 they became candidates on the Republican ticket. They were nominated and elected.

Treasurer Sergel did not long remain friendly with the Thompson administration. Within a few months there was trouble because the treasurer's way of doing business was not approved by the politicians. It was no again when he was president of the sanitary district.

When he was elected president of the sanitary board he sought to conduct its affairs as an independent, although elected as a Republican. The board was soon opposed to him and, although he had been elected for a supposed six year term, he was deposed as president after three years, still continuing as a trustee. After that he dropped out of politics.

He was born in Muscatine, Ia., and was educated there.

His widow, Mrs. Annie Sergel, survives. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence. Burial will be private at Oakwood cemetery.

SCORES ATTEND LAST RITES FOR MRS. G. W. DIXON

Pay Chicago's Homage to Civic Leader.

By GEORGE W. B. NORTON.
Eulogies, reviews in expression and beautiful in phrase, were spoken yesterday at the funeral of Mrs. George W. Dixon at the family residence, 1250 Lake Shore drive.

Walter E. Beebe, president of the Hamilton club, appointed a committee of seven to represent the organization of which Mrs. Dixon was once president and always active.

The Chicago Historical society, the Chicago Women's club, of which Mrs. Dixon was president at the time of her death; the Wesley Memorial hospital, to which Mrs. Dixon gave 18 years as president of the woman's auxiliary, were only a few of the many societies, clubs and organizations represented by sympathetic friends.

Residence Bower of Flowers.
The spacious residence was a bower of flowers. Roses, Easter lilies, forget-me-nots lined the walls from the floor to the ceiling, extending up the sides of the stairway and down the hall corridors. A huge white floral cross stood at the foot of the casket and a tall lighted candle at the head.

"If all the little children and all the girls Mrs. Dixon blessed during her lifetime should each one have brought only one flower we would find her buried in a garden of blossoms," said Bishop Edwin H. Hughes.

"Mrs. Dixon possessed the rare achievement of combining a life of Puritan morality and fidelity to religion and a life of fun even to the point of hilarity."

Speakers Eulogize Her.
Other speakers besides Bishop Hughes were Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and Dr. Ernest Wray Oneal, a former pastor. Dr. John P. Brushingham, also a former pastor, read a portion of the ritual, and the Rev. E. G. Schutz, district superintendent, pronounced the benediction.

"I have used the very Bible in this service from which this good woman read every day and nourished her spiritual life," said Dr. Thompson.

A detail of police stood at the entrance of the home while the traffic was detoured from the Lake Shore drive to side streets. Burial was held at Rosehill.

CANADA FARMERS QUERY LEADERS OVER TARIFF PLAN

By GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The progressive group in the Canadian parliament, consisting largely of western farmers, who are the key to the dominion's whole political middle, have adopted the novel precedent of asking Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Arthur Meighen, conservative leader, to declare themselves openly and publicly on ten important points. Three of the points contained in their official communication are: The tariff, the admission of Canadian cattle to the United States, and the Hudson Bay railway. No reply has been made as yet.

Lemieux Is Re-elected.
Whatever crisis or series of crises may be in store for the Mackenzie King government in the sessional days to come, none developed today on the choice of a speaker at parliament's preliminary opening proceedings. Rodolph E. Lemieux, speaker in the last parliament, and the Liberal government's nominee, was unanimously chosen to preside over the deliberations.

Indeed the parliamentary preliminary, which at one time was beset by the issue upon which Arthur Meighen and his Conservatives might seek to overthrow the government, was made the occasion for complimentary reference by Mr. Meighen and the government's nominees, which prevailed.

Takes Shot at Government.
One other missile, drawn from Mr. Meighen's quiver, was directed against the government following the interesting suggestion made by Ernest Lapointe, house leader in the absence of Mr. King, that the Canadian parliament might adopt the precedent of the British house, and make the speaker's permanent. Again smiling Mr. Meighen said he would have more confidence in the wisdom of the course when the speaker to be appointed was chosen by members of his party.

EVANSTON LOSES FIGHT TO HALT NEW ELECTRIC

The North Shore Connecting railway, a branch of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, may construct and operate a railroad from Evanston to Wilmette, according to a decision by Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan yesterday.

The decision came on an appeal of Evanston property owners from an order of the Illinois commerce commission which allowed construction of the railroad. The East Side Improvement association of Evanston and the Grove House for Convalescents also had joined in the appeal.

The property owners declared that inasmuch as the new road will be a connecting link to Milwaukee the case was for the interstate commerce commission to decide, and not the Illinois body. Judge Sullivan failed to agree with them.

It is understood that the case will be taken to the United States Supreme court.

Banjos O. K., Saxophones Must Toot Own Horns.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The opener last night was a talk by Floyd Gibbons, W-G-N, 7, vividly relating the dramatic story of the sinking of the S. S. Laconia way back in 1917.

These reminiscences by Mr. Gibbons unquestionably are a popular feature on the air at present, and there will be a void when the series comes to a close.

We have heard the name Rose Van Dusen announced from WQJ, 7, to a thousands of times as the station's accompanist, but recently we have been hearing her soprano voice at this station.

We now have a double reason for admiring her. A. W. Kittner, banjoist, added much to the hour's enjoyment.

On this occasion we will bring in W-G-N's broadcast of the Eskimos, between 10 and 11 o'clock.

The reason that from a musical viewpoint a banjo orchestra is purer in tone and purer in musical thought and expression than a saxophone orchestra.

The silver masked tenor on the station was an admirer of the light, fatherly, captivating quality of his voice.

It is only rarely that we hear the two very fine harmonizing voices, Fred and Russell, Pratt, at WMAQ other than on Saturday nights.

For that reason the writer especially appreciated their recital at this station last night, 8:05.

For a very soothing program, almost a lullaby in effect, the KYW 9 to 10 hour could scarcely be surpassed. It was made up of vocal, violin, cello, piano solos, and even a few instrumental trio numbers.

WJAZ is only on the air once a week (10 o'clock) with a serious program. Last night the WJAZ male quartet made its appearance in the radio world. They are worthy of future recognition. They are close harmony at its best.

The outstanding musical broadcast last night was the recitation of the song cycle, "In a Persian Garden," by the W-G-N mixed quartet, 10:10 to 10:45.

This work is one of the few choicest of choice musical works that has appeared on the air.

It is of a modest length; as dramatic as refined music dare be; it is sufficiently exotic in tone to obtain and hold interest.

Furthermore, the soloists in this quartet are of exceptional talent. If they were singing from New York we would be wishing we could claim them for Chicago. So here are their names: Soprano, Olive June Lacey; alto, Kathleen Ryan; contralto, Dan Baker; tenor, and Mark Love, basso.

[Elmer signing off—12:32 a. m.]

ALDERMAN RAPS U. S. APPROVAL OF HOLLOW TILE

An attack on the federal report on hollow tile which approves its use as well as brick for retaining walls in building construction was launched by Ald. Oscar Nelson (4th) yesterday before a meeting of Ald. John Powers' (14th) subcommittee of the council committee on buildings and zoning.

The subcommittee yesterday opened public hearings before passing on the question of the use of hollow tile in Chicago for building purposes.

The committee at one time passed an ordinance recommending the use of tile, but Mayor Dever vetoed it on the grounds it was not broad enough. Then Corporation Counsel Francis X. Sullivan moved that the ordinance be rescinded.

Mayor Dever recently urged the committee to get together and bring in a measure that would permit the use of hollow tile with an attendant saving of $10,000,000 a year in construction costs. The hearings will continue each Thursday.

EDGAR SELWYN, RUTH WILCOX WED QUIETLY

New York, Jan. 7.—[Special.]—Slipping into the city as quietly as the city as their friends, Edna Mackay and Irving Berlin, had done a few days before, Edgar Selwyn, theatrical producer, and Ruth Virginia Wilcox, musical comedy actress, formerly of "George White's Scandals," were married today by City Clerk Michael J. Cruise. Jesse L. Lasky, producer with Mrs. Selwyn, accompanied them.

Selwyn gave his age as 49 and his bride said she was 23. Each has been divorced. Selwyn was parted from Margaret Mayo, the actress, by a Nevada decree, while the bonds of marriage Wilcox with Russell Snyder were severed Oct. 16. It was reported the couple will sail Saturday on the Leviathan.

Bouquet Reminded Dawes It Was His Wife's Birthday

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—[AP.]—Vice President Dawes addressed a dedicatory banquet of the Hamline Methodist Episcopal church last night. When he had finished he was presented with a bouquet of flowers. A startled expression spread over his face. Then he smiled. "Mrs. Dawes will doubly appreciate these flowers," he said. "Today is her birthday and I forgot all about it."

SPECULATORS OF U. S. APPEAR ON BERLIN BOURSE

Welcomed as Bringing Capital Industry Needs.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.)
BERLIN, Jan. 7.—The favorable report of Seymour Barker Gilbert, American agent general of reparations, on Germany's finances has led to an invasion by international speculators on the German exchange, financiers here assert. They cite the German-American concern, the European Shares corporation, which today started to purchase shares on the bourse for the American speculators, bringing up quotations from one to eight per cent immediately.

80 Per Cent American.
The Darmstadt National bank, Warburg of Hamburg, and Levy Salomon Oppenheim Jr. of Cologne are the German members, while the Hayden company is reported to be the leader of the American group. Five million dollars was used in the first purchase. Eighty per cent of the capital was advanced by the Americans, and the balance was put up in Germany.
Germany, which formerly protested against the purchase of shares and obligations by foreign countries, is welcoming the action. As the Vorkers writes, "It brings to Germany capital which she needs to exploit the big plants she has, without forcing her to pay the high interest rates requested by the average creditor."
Will Save Industry.
This alone will save German industry, which in all parts of the country threatens to close down its factories because of the shortage of cheap capital required to produce cheaply and a consequent shortage of orders."

750,000 YEARLY VISITS BY STORK WORRY JAPANESE

Wonder How to Feed So Many Mouths.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.)
TOKIO, Jan. 7.—The fact disclosed by the recent census that the population of Japan proper is growing more rapidly than supposed, having been for the last five years at the rate of 750,000 annually, has aroused the Japanese press to a feeling of alarm over the food situation, and the necessity either of insuring a greater and a more dependable supply or of finding some outlet for the surplus of people.

Explains Japan's Position.
The Tokyo Jiji, while unable to control its pride over the demonstrated vitality of the Japanese race, shown in the birth rate, says:
"But the momentous question is how to feed this alarmingly increasing population. In the matter of the density of population Japan comes fourth, being surpassed by Belgium, Holland and Great Britain. But these countries have vast overseas resources, and are highly developed commercial nations. They have enough means to feed their own populations, whereas things are completely different in this country."
"The average annual income in Japan is one-eighth of the average in America, one-fifth of the French, one-third of the German. Yet the population is increasing at the rate of 750,000 a year. We have either to find outlets or to reorganize our whole industrial system so that sufficient means of living can be provided for our ever increasing numbers."

Lands Still Open.
Somewhere this ever growing surplus must be placed. Just now America and Australia are closed to our emigrants, but Siberia, Manchuria, Mongolia and South America are still awaiting them. The census is a warning of what our government should do as regards this all important question."

PLAY DIRECTORS TRAIN LADS FOR SKATING DERBIES

Sonnenleiter Enters 11 for Silver Skates.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
George Sonnenleiter Sr., director of Walter Christopher playground, yesterday nominated eleven skaters for the Tribune's tenth annual silver skates derby to be held on the Garfield park lagoon, Jan. 23 and 24. Nine of the entrants will compete in the boys' junior event, one in the intermediate and one in the senior.

Since the first Tribune race was held, Sonnenleiter has been custodian of the prizes. He has always taken keen interest in sports for the growing generation and he usually has a hand in every playground system sporting event.

Youngsters Being Coached.
Sonnenleiter is only one of the many directors of Chicago's playgrounds who are continually trying to help the boys of their playgrounds to better their abilities. These instructors are teaching Tribune entrants how to take the turns, judge their speed and some of the finer points of the racing game which should prove helpful in the contests.

Local skaters who have journeyed into Canada to win the international championship or to Lake Placid or Saugamee lake to win national honors are products of the Chicago parks and playgrounds. These skaters broke into prominence through the Tribune derbies and only a few of the senior silver skates winners have failed to win either an international or national championship.

Skating Probable Tomorrow.
If the weather continues around or below the freezing mark, skating will be permitted on all park lagoons tomorrow. This is especially true of the west park where so much is done for the skaters.

No entry fee is required in these races. An entry blank appears on the sporting pages for the benefit of those who desire to race. The only requirement is that all skaters be members of the Western Skating association. A membership may be secured from Julian T. Fitzgerald, 2846 West North avenue, telephone Humboldt 0121.

ICE MEETS GALORE

The first annual Derby of the Portage Park Skating club, sponsored by the North West Chamber of Commerce, will be held over an eight lap course at Long avenue and Irving Park boulevard the night of Jan. 20. All details are in the hands of Harry Mayfield, secretary of the club, who has arranged a program of nine races. Entry blanks can be obtained from Mayfield at 5336 Dakin street and from the leading skate manufacturers on the northwest side.

Semifinals of the board of education playground skating championships will be held in seven districts of the city Saturday. The preliminaries were held last Saturday, in which more than 5,000 boys took part.

The "Inner States Ice Skating tournament" will be held in Lincoln park Sunday afternoon. Several events for boys and girls, divided into age classes will be held. Entries can be made at 211 South State street.

Several additional entries have been received for the Western championship ice skating tournament which will be held tomorrow afternoon in Humboldt park under the auspices of the Antlers sportsmen's club. The ice will be in the condition for the races according to officials of the west parks and the meet will start at 1 o'clock.

Sunday the Norwegian-American A. A. will hold its annual ice tournament at Humboldt park and the city championship will be decided.

MOON MULLINS—WELCOME, STRANGER

BOB CLASSIFIES MACKEREL KING AS PART RUBBER

BY BOB BECKER.
Long Key, Fla., Jan. 7.—[Special.]—The kingfish, ruler of the roving member of the mackerel family in these waters, must be one-half India rubber and one-half ordinary fish. That is the only way you can classify him after seeing him jump and bound out of the ocean.

Yesterday we were cheering along on the golf stream just a short distance from camp. The ocean was gray and sparkling. Overhead was a blue summer sky while in the distance I could see the palm studded shore of Long Key. Thirst fed behind the stern of the boat a big, white, hookless plug fastened to a hand line was darting, twisting, and leaping out of the water. This was our coarser, our leaser, for sailfish.

Close to the trawler rode my cut bait, single hook lure. All was quiet on the golf stream, but we had hopes. Suddenly the water boiled behind that crazy actin' coarser. Then into the air leaped a five pound, trim, speed looking fish. He went up, up, and up until ten feet above the ocean and then he landed, back into the water dropped Mr. Kingfish. He had rushed at the coarser and missed. In a fraction of a second this fish had struck my lure. As the hook pricked him, whoops! another jump this time not more than a foot. The hook was thrown and the show was over just as suddenly as it started. But today is another day, and we're going to find some more of these rubber kingfish that bounce like tennis balls.

Now Is Time to Plan That Spring Garden

HAVE YOU A COPY OF "SUB-URBAN GARDENING"?

The Tribune has a limited supply of copies of this booklet, a handy guide for gardeners. It will be found especially useful as a reference book along with the new seed catalogues. "Suburban Gardening" was written by Frank Ridgway, The Tribune's agricultural editor. Copies are now available to The Tribune Public Service bureau, 11 South Dearborn street, and in the lobby of The Tribune Tower, for ten cents, or for thirteen cents by mail.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Vegetable seed catalogues, the gardeners' and truckers' annual reminders, are already out with all the known and new vegetable seed for early and late spring planting. It is none too early to begin planning the spring planting of vegetables whether they are to be grown by the amateur back lotter or the commercial trucker.

The beginner's first lesson in home gardening is in getting familiar with the varieties of the highest quality where the crops are demanded. Growing vegetables for sale is a highly specialized business and crops or varieties which were popular ten years ago may be out of date this season. Grow the crops that consumers want, not the one that is the easiest to grow or looks best in the field or in the market basket. Carrots are in demand today, while a few years ago they were used only in limited quantities.

Commercial truck gardeners should plan their crops and varieties and shift to new crops wherever it is necessary to meet the demand. Growing vegetables for sale is a highly specialized business and crops or varieties which were popular ten years ago may be out of date this season. Grow the crops that consumers want, not the one that is the easiest to grow or looks best in the field or in the market basket. Carrots are in demand today, while a few years ago they were used only in limited quantities.

BARRETT WILL ARRIVE SUNDAY FOR WELSH BOUT

Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia welterweight, who meets Frankie Welsh of the southwest side in the main event of the boxing show at East Chicago Jan. 15, will arrive in Chicago Sunday morning and establish training quarters at the Mullen gymnasium. The bout is looked upon as one of the best promoters Jim Mullen has arranged for the indoor season and is creating a lot of interest among the local boxing fraternity. Five other bouts complete the card.

In the Wake of the News

ECKERSALL INC.

EAR WAKE: Now that the foot ball season is over and Red Grange has incorporated himself and put his stock for over par in the present "bull" market, one is forced to inquire what Eckersall would have been able to do with his ability in a market such as this.

What was the book value of Grange Inc. when it began business? The tangible assets consisted of great ability to run back kicks and carry the ball in any kind of a broken field. This is a great asset, but we can only figure this at about 15 per cent of the value of the company. The balance of the value is "good will," having been built up, as in most companies, by good advertising, and is figured at 85 per cent.

What would the value of Eckersall Inc. have been at the present time? Here the assets were: Great open field runner, most accurate drop kicker of all time.

Freddie Meyers of the Chicago Hebrew institute, former National A. A. U. light heavyweight and heavyweight champion, will meet Jack Marshall of Texas in the feature bout of the wrestling matches at the Star and Garter tonight. In the other bout Renato Garini will take holds with John Kilonis.

Howard Cantonwine of Iowa and Raffaele Greina, the Italian, who meet in the windup of Paddy Harmon's mat show in the Dreamland arena on Monday night, are training at local gymnasiums. Greina is being conditioned for the match by Joe Parelli, the mid-dleweight, who also is his manager. Totsa and Taro Miyaki will clash in the semi-windup, while two other bouts complete the card.

Coast Artillery Cagers Trim Fond du Lac, 34-22

The 2022 coast artillery basketball team defeated the Fond du Lac, Wis., quintet, 34 to 22, at the Broadway armory last night. Varney, forward, led the scoring for the winners with five baskets and two free throws. In the curtain raiser the coast artillery lightweights defeated the Chicago Reds, 16 to 15.

great punter, a great defensive player, fast as any player ever in the game, never out of business at a time when the halves were 25 minutes and no chance to take out a player to rest him up and put him back again.

These assets would be about 99 per cent of the value of the company; the other 1 per cent would be "good will" or advertising, although the product in this case was so good it would sell itself.

I may be a little bullish on Eckersall Inc., but I am not trying to sell you any of it. Wake, for I wish I were the sole owner of it in a market such as the present. If I were, the market never would be "sellers" on it, for I would have none to offer.

Just Musings.

Evanston has fallen in line. Its first Silver Skates Derby for Evanstonians will be held the week following THE TRIBUNE's annual open derbies at Garfield park Jan. 23-24. The suburban event is sponsored by the Evanston Bureau of Recreation and the Evanston News-Index.

That New York state boxing commission certainly knows what it wants. At times its rulings seem unnecessarily severe and arbitrary, but boxing is a sport which needs severe and arbitrary rule.

Just a little pang of envy as we read of the golf tournaments in Florida and California.

This Wake Is Conducted By Harvey T. Woodruff, Help! Help!

As Age Creeps On.
We have just been informed that by an interchange of envelopes we accepted an invitation to a dinner-dance by the Northwestern University School of Music which it was not giving, and sent a music tuition check for one of the little Wakes to an estimate hostess who does not impart musical education.

An Appropriate Title.
Recently listened to a beautiful hymn entitled "Out of the Ivory Palaces Into a World of Woe." I am wondering if it was inspired by National and American league managers.

IF foresight were as easy as hindsight the problem of making permanently profitable investments would be a simple matter. And yet the future can hold nothing but a repetition of the lessons of the past. The same economic laws will govern that have always governed.

It is true that no individual can ever acquire a knowledge of these laws through his own experience. The most successful investors are those who have learned to rely on the massed experience of others over a long period of years and the combined judgment of a large corps of experts.

RESERVE BANK NEW YORK RAISES REDISCOUNT RATE

BY O. A. MATHER.

The New York federal reserve bank yesterday advanced its rediscount rate from 3 1/2 per cent to 4 per cent. This action came as a surprise to Wall Street, as it occurred in the face of a vast return flow of funds from the year-end dividend and interest disbursement and consequent easier money market rates.

It had been Wall Street's belief that the New York bank, which had declined to advance its rate last month when the stock market loan rate rose to 6 per cent, would not take action when call loans fell to 4 per cent, as happened yesterday. But after the action was taken yesterday it was argued that the rediscount rate was kept down last month in order not to embarrass the Bank of England in a troublesome year-end strain, whereas the London market now shows great improvement.

Credit Demand Increases.

The action of the New York bank was not taken because of any particular weakening in its own financial position, nor in that of the federal reserve system. This was conclusively shown by the weekly reserve statements made public last night. These showed a distinct improvement in the last week. But there had been an increasing demand for credit with the continuing expansion of trade, which was recognized last November when the Boston, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and San Francisco banks marked up their rediscount rate from 3 1/2 to 4 per cent. This general action caused withdrawal of funds from New York and at the same time threw a heavier borrowing demand on the New York Reserve bank, because of its lower rate. Establishment of rediscount rates on a higher level is interpreted to mean this year is not to be the same kind of easy money year as was 1925. But at the same time this denotes expectation of an active year in trade and industry.

ARMY AND NA
GRID GAME H

Favors Trip if C

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8. (AP)—President Coolidge was next Army-Navy football game played in Chicago. While realizing that there are many difficulties to be overcome, the President made it known today that he would be much gratified if the war and navy departments found that it would be possible to play next year's game at Chicago without unreasonable interference with the school of the cadets and midshipmen. President Coolidge does not think it would be wise to send the men every year on long trips from the academies, but he has a valid reason why such trips can be made once in a while.

Secretaries Hold Decision. Final decision as to whether game will be awarded to Chicago rests with the President, Secretary War Davis, and Secretary of the Navy. (Harris-Ewing Photo.)

Asked to explain his position, Secretary Wilbur said that if the decision was made to play the game in the east, Admiral Nulton's decision would be virtually as good as final. He said, however, that if Admiral Nulton recommends playing the game in Chicago, he would make the final decision.

Washington Press Stirred. Secretary Wilbur would not commit himself as to whether he favored the midshipmen to Chicago or the army as his home is in California and now known that the President likes to see the game go west. He said, however, that he would like to consent to the mid-western location for the service game is of interest not only in Washington but in the two academies but all over the country. In Washington the Evening Star carries an article on its sports pages today ridiculing the idea that the game should go to Chicago and stating that the annual service game would be fought in Philadelphia next fall.

CITY WELCOMES GAME. Chicagoans received the announcement of President Coolidge's favorable attitude toward the playing of the Army-Navy game here with enthusiasm. "It is an intelligent recognition of the fact that the middle west is a natural part of the nation," Mayor E. Dever said. "Every Chicagoan will appreciate the President's stand." "The classic here will be the direct opposition to the attitude," said President of the south park board.
